Superfort Armada Hits 5 Jap Cities

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "very large" force of Superfortresses rained incendiaries on industrial targets at five Japanese cities on Honshu Island today.

65 N.R.M.A. Men Killed in Action

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Headquarters today said approximately 12,000 National Resources Mobilization troops were overseas when V-E Day came, and of that number more than 4,000 were serving in northwest Europe at the cessation of hostilities. Fifty-five of the N.R.M.A. men were killed in action, 10 died of wounds, six were listed as missing, and 226 were listed as wounded.

The troops were dispatched overseas a few weeks after the government had passed an order-in-council last November authorizing the sending to Europe of Home Defence personnel, originally mobilized for service in Canada and adjacent territories.

Instructors Home Find Leave Cut

VANCOUVER (CP)—Twenty-nine Canadian army officers and non-commissioned officers, selected for instructional duty, said in interviews on their arrival here Sunday that their leaves had been cut from 30 to 21 days.

Today Pacific Command authorities said the men had been guaranteed only as much leave as it was possible to give them until they were needed.

"We've just learned that our leave is only 21 days, said Sgt. A. Linton of Courtenay, one of the men who arrived by train after an air trip from Britain to New York.

Former V.M.D. Boss Drowns at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ernest Redpath, vice-president and managing director of Vancouver Engineering Works, drowned Sunday night when he fell out of a rowboat. It is believed an oar slipped overboard and he fell into the water in an attempt to retrieve it.

In 1910 Mr. Redpath joined the Vancouver Engineering Works and in 1917 became draughtsman for the Imperial Munitions Board at Vancouver. In 1919 he joined the Victoria Machinery Depot to build steel ships for the Canadian government. At one time he was superintendent of that yard.

2 Drown In Car

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Two young men were drowned when their open coupe skidded off the highway near here early Sunday morning and plunged into Okanagan Lake.

Bennett Hardy and William Bland, in their early twenties, both of West Summerland, lost their lives. A. Borgstrom, the third occupant of the automobile, managed to extricate himself from the wreckage and waded through the shallow water to shore. He was only slightly bruised. An inquest was opened this afternoon.

Brazilian Cruiser Lost in Atlantic

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The 3,150-ton Brazilian cruiser Bahia has been lost in a mid-Atlantic explosion probably with heavy casualties among its complement of 383 men, the navy announced today.

United States units searched for survivors. A number of men were reported picked up. Cause of the explosion has not been determined.

In Washington a Brazilian Embassy spokesman said the Bahia had been on patrol duty since the day Brazil declared war against the Axis. She was built in England in 1910.

Aussies Advance

MANILA (AP)—Closely supported by warships and aircraft, Australian jungle veterans advanced against sporadic Japanese resistance today on all fronts of the southeast Borneo invasion coast around Balikpapan.

The naval units ranged the length of the coast, pounding Japanese gun positions while the Australian and U.S. air forces kept up a steady attack on Japanese positions, smashing guns, warehouses, barracks and small coastal craft.

Meanwhile, counting of 3,824 Japanese dead in the Philippines in the past week and capture of 386 has raised total enemy casualties in the campaign to 423,245, it was disclosed today.

Truman On Way To Big 3 Parley At Potsdam

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Truman is en route to Europe for the Big Three meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin, it was learned today.

The President left Newport News, Va., by ship Saturday. Accompanying him is a staff of advisers which includes State Secretary Byrnes.

The Big Three meeting will be held in the Potsdam area near Berlin.

Allies Prepare Scene of Discussions

BERLIN (AP)—High diplomats began arriving today for the impending Big Three meeting.

Averell Harriman, U.S. ambassador to Russia, is to land at the Tempelhof airfield during the day and take quarters near the "Little White House" prepared for President Truman in the heavily guarded Potsdam area.

A procession of American limousines started regular service from the airfield to Potsdam, carrying distinguished visitors.

U.S. army signal experts virtually completed stringing a thick network of cables and wires by which Mr. Truman will be in touch with Washington while he confers with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

Guards from Elite Red Army regiments were increased throughout the Potsdam area. Heavy sprinklings of British and U.S. sentries were in the area.

Germans Killed A.P. Correspondent, 13 Other Men

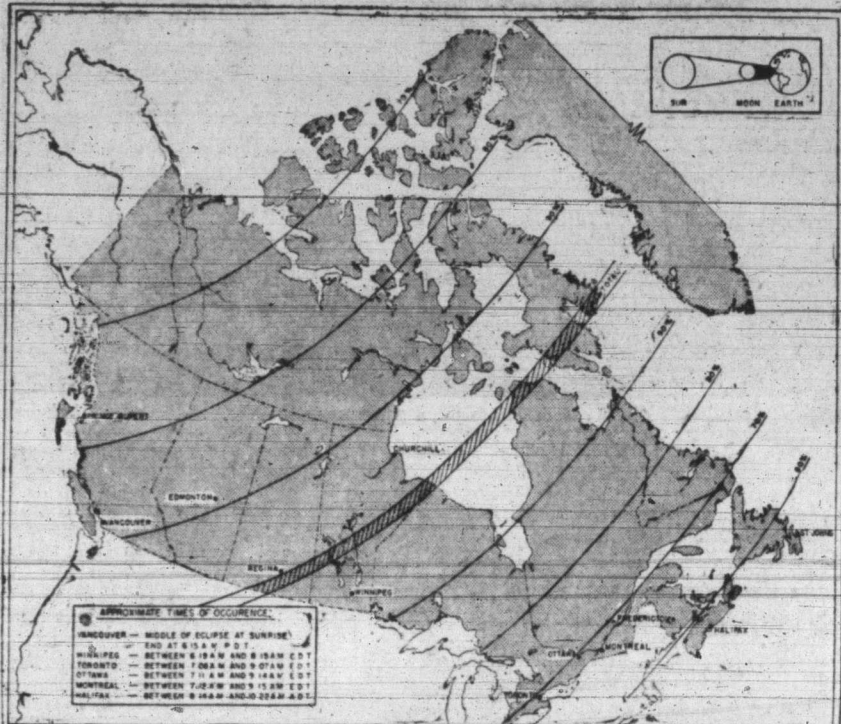

By LYNN HEINERLING LINZ, Austria (AP)—German officials now in custody say Joseph Morton, Associated Press war correspondent who was captured after he had flown into Slovakia during a Czechoslovakia uprising, was executed in the Mauthausen concentration camp Jan. 24 on orders from Heinrich Himmler's staff in Berlin.

Morton, 34, an imaginative and energetic correspondent who came out of Romania with the first interview of King Mihai after Romania had made peace last year, was captured near Plomka in Slovakia the day after last Christmas.

Nine other U.S. men and four Britons—all members of a group which flew into Slovakia in October to help bring out U.S. fliers stranded there—were shot to death with Morton and their bodies were cremated, according to these witnesses.

Mauthausen is rated fifth in the list of major Nazi extermination camps. Thousands of men and women were executed there, or allowed to starve to death.

World Famous Scientists Record Total Eclipse of Sun on Prairies

This map shows the path of the total eclipse of the sun today and the percentages of the eclipse which were observable in sections across Canada. Times of the eclipse are in the lower left-hand corner.

By the Canadian Press

Favored by perfect conditions, astronomers today studied from vantage points on the prairies the first total eclipse of the sun visible from the Dominion since 1932. The path of totality extended throughout southeastern Saskatchewan and western Manitoba.

For a brief 34 to 36.9 seconds, the moon blotted out the sun at about 5:17 a.m. P.D.T. Scientists observed the brilliant display of celestial fireworks, the pearly white corona and the solar prominences, and photographs recorded the eclipse.

At Pine River, 250 miles north of Winnipeg, 16 scientists and amateur astronomers recorded by camera and delicately-tuned instruments every phase of the solar phenomenon, which began at 6:19 a.m. C.D.T. (4:19 a.m. P.D.T.), with the moon taking the first bite out of the sun's disc. The moon and sun crossed completely in two hours.

"This is a wonderful success," said Prof. Edward Halbach of Marquette University, at Pine River. "The visibility was perfect," added J. S. Supernaw, past president of the Madison Astronomical Society.

The moon blotted the sun out for 34 seconds at Wolseley, Sask., 70 miles east of Regina, where another group of astronomers had set up their equipment. Dr. R. K. Marshall of the Franklin Institute expedition, Philadelphia, expressed satisfaction with photographs taken.

Aerial observations were made at a high altitude over the Bred-bury, Sask., district, with several scientists aboard an R.C.A.F. plane from Rivers. Other study groups were at God's Lake, 350 miles northeast of Winnipeg.

Camera plates, films and other records will be used for research in the study of the mysteries of the corona, the effects of sunspots, radio reception and photographic data on the flash spectrum.

A partial eclipse was visible elsewhere in Canada, with thousands of citizens of Winnipeg, Edmonton, Victoria, Toronto and other places arising early to look at the eclipse through smoked glasses.

For those who missed the eclipse, they will have another opportunity in 1954.

Isley Informs Mayors Canada Starting Big Home-Building Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Isley today told a delegation of 10 Canadian mayors that Canada is at the starting point of a vast house-building program which is expected to lead to a steady improvement in the housing situation during the next few months.

The mayors, headed by Mayor J. W. Cornett of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, came to Ottawa at the invitation of Mr. Isley to discuss housing. The conference, which was held in camera, lasted nearly two hours and also was attended by Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service. A further meeting was held in the late afternoon.

The committee is made up of Mayors J. Cornett, Vancouver; Stanley Lewis, Ottawa; Camille Houde, Montreal; R. W. Saunders, Toronto; G. Coulter, Winnipeg; R. Forbes, Fredericton; Lucien Borne, Quebec; W. Fry, Edmonton; James D. McKenna, Saint John, N.B.; and T. Wilson, Verdun, Que.

The direct approach between the mayors and the federal government is a departure from the pre-war system under which a municipality appealing to the Dominion for assistance was told it would have to go through its provincial government.

South Guard Pass Taken By Chinese

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Chinese high command announced today that Chinese forces had captured South Guard Pass (Chennakwan) on the border between China and French Indo-China and said the Japanese were retreating in confusion toward Dong Dang, south of the frontier.

With the capture of the pass, gateway to Indo-China, the whole of southwestern Kwangsi province has been cleared off the enemy, the high command said.

Chinese forces striking from recently recaptured Luichow along the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad toward its northern terminal at Hengyang, recaptured Luichow, 20 miles northeast of Luichow, Saturday.

Related announcement was made of the recapture July 1 of Tanchuk, a former U.S. 14th Air Force base city which was abandoned Sept. 21 last.

The Chinese also announced the recapture July 2 of Tengyue, some 20 miles east of Tanchuk on the West River and about 40 miles west of the important inland and former treaty port of Wuchow.

GIVEN HOPELESS TASK—To meet Allied blows against the Japanese home islands the Japs have named Gen. Keisuke Fujie, above, as new commander of the Tohoku district.

Island Forests Ordered Closed

Blockade of Jap Ports Reported By Radio Tokyo

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Tokyo radio reported a "considerable number" of Allied submarines and mine-laying Superforts attempted to blockade Japanese harbors while raiding planes swept widely over the home islands today in their daily attacks.

The Domei agency claimed that "at least seven" submarines have been sunk in Japanese waters since the beginning of June and Nipponese planes were "continuing their assaults on enemy submarines." This claim and all reports of air action were without Allied confirmation.

Air raiders from Iwo Jima hunted new targets, Tokyo said, in their daily attacks on Honshu and Kyushu islands.

Fifty Okinawa-based bombers, escorted by 40 fighter planes, reportedly raided the vicinity of Omura, naval air station guarding the Sasebo naval base on northwestern Kyushu.

Two Jima fighters from Iwo Jima attacked air fields around Kyoto, Osaka and Kobe, while another 40 strafed Hamamatsu and Toyohashi.

SUPERFORTS ACTIVE

Superforts flying alone or in groups of three were reported on extensive missions over Honshu, main island of Japan. Several of them flew over and around Tokyo.

Japanese propagandists, heard here by the Federal Communications Commission, claimed four Liberators were shot down over by-passed Truk Island in the Marianas Sunday.

Attempting to analyze the Allied air offensive, radio Tokyo said "The U.S. is making a serious and calculated attempt to raise the Japanese mainland thoroughly before invasion, and thus try to weaken all resistance before the decisive battle of the mainland is fought."

Tokyo added that the underlying plan is "to break the might of our feared special attack corps by blasting its bases; to smash our production installations; to sever sea communications by sowing mines and to disrupt sea and land communications."

John Amery Before Court in London

LONDON (Reuter)—A charge under the Treason Act of 1351 today was brought against John Amery, 33-year-old son of Leopold S. Amery, British Secretary for India, when he appeared in court before Justice Harold MacKenna at Bow Street.

After proceedings lasting less than five minutes, he was remanded until Monday, July 30.

Weather Forecast

Victoria and Vicinity — Tuesday: Light winds, becoming moderate on shore during afternoon; fair and warm. Temperature noon Monday, 64. Sunday's Temperatures — Min. 52; Max. 72. Sunshine: 13 hours 30 minutes.

With forest fire hazard rapidly increasing the B.C. government forest service today issued an order closing most of the Vancouver forest district which includes Vancouver Island, thus halting logging operations, camping, hunting, fishing and traveling.

The order came as two fires on Vancouver Island were raging out of control, including the large blaze on the Comox Logging Company's holdings north of Ladysmith and a new outbreak during the week-end at the Lake Logging Company's operation near Rounds, Lake Cowichan. Other blazes were at the Adams River, north of Sayward on the east coast of Vancouver Island, and at Fort Neville, north of Nanaimo.

One of the major fires was burning uncontrolled over a 10 to 12 square mile area on the property of the Lake Logging Company and the women and children of Rounds, about 18 families, had been removed from the area. The blaze is about 14 miles from the town. Rounds is midway across Vancouver Island and about 60 airline miles from the southern tip.

B.C. police said the fire already had destroyed 5,000,000 feet of fallen timber and four or five pieces of logging equipment.

The other large fire was burning on Comox Logging Co. property on the side of a mountain. The flames ranged from the 2,000 to the 4,000 foot level, and 10 to 12 miles southwest of Ladysmith. Ladysmith is on the eastern coast of Vancouver Island and about 70 miles from the southern tip of the island.

Latest reports received in Ladysmith about the fire said that the flames were "fairly well" under control last night but no one could forecast what would happen today. The forest is dry and a wind could send the flames out of control again.

About 400 Comox company employees and forestry branch officials are fighting the Ladysmith blaze.

Most of Island Closed By Order

All the Vancouver Forest District with the exception of the mainland north of Knight Inlet and also excepting that portion of Vancouver Island from and including the Nimpkish watershed west and north, and excepting also the west coast north of Toqua Bay will be a closed district as from midnight. The closed area includes the islands lying between Vancouver Island and the mainland as far north as Blackfish Sound, also the Fraser Valley within the Vancouver forest district.

The order was signed today by Forests Minister E. T. Kenney. During the week-end the humidity dropped below the danger point as the sun shone hotly on the forests, drying out the inflammable refuse on the forest floor.

Humidity danger point, is considered at 40 per cent by the forest department if that point is held for several days.

Humidity in Victoria was 47 Sunday afternoon, 42 at Duncan, 33 at Lake Cowichan, 35 at Port Alberni, 36 at Campbell River, 40 at Nanaimo and 27 on the mainland near Powell River. The forecast for the next two days was continued fair and warm weather, with a temperature of 74 forecast for this afternoon in Victoria. Sunday the observatory thermometers on Gonzales Hill recorded 72. The mercury had hit 82 on Saturday and Friday here.

Even higher temperatures were recorded at up-island centres.

Considerable relief to the forest fire hazard was given Sunday by a southwest wind which sprang up Sunday afternoon. It was expected also this afternoon by William Burton, weather man at Gonzales Observatory, from 4 to 7 this evening. He said the wind would be moderate.

The order prohibits a person from entering the forests in the closed area except with a permit from the forest service branch.

Warning Given By Officials Saturday

Warnings that the closure order might be necessary this week were given Saturday by the B.C. forest service.

Besides shutting down the logging and lumber camps in the area the closure order also will halt prospecting and mining operations. Camp fire permits have been canceled in that area.

The fire at Rounds is believed to have been caused by friction from a spar tree's strap-breaking and sparks igniting the bone-dry trees. The blaze is raging through 15,000,000 feet of slash in the logged-over area which runs along the Gordon River.

Two hundred Lake Logging Co. men are fighting the flames which have burned out one bridge and destroyed an undetermined amount of logging equipment. Company operations at Mead Creek and Hill and part of the mill at Honeycomb Bay are closed. They are threatened by the fire.

A.R.P. volunteers and soldiers are helping 300 loggers fight the flames at Ladysmith. Company officials said the fire has covered an area of 2,000 acres and destroyed 95 per cent of the 3,000,000 feet of felled and bucked timber on Mount Majuba.

Cut Off By Fire, Exhausted Woodsman Hikes to West Coast

Hope was still held out by B.C. Police officers at Duncan today for Peter Olsen, 65, unreported since Saturday when he was cut off while fighting a forest fire near Rounds, Lake Cowichan, B.C. Police headquarters reported here today.

Also cut off by the flames raging in the timbers of the Lake Logging Co., Andrew Paskvan, 47-year-old feller, hiked 20 miles through the rough country south of the lake to safety at Port Renfrew on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Both men were employees of the Lake Logging Co. With other employees of the firm they were battling the blaze but failed to report to the camp when darkness fell.

Almost exhausted, scratched and lacerated from his all-night trek through the woods, Paskvan stumbled into Port Renfrew Sunday afternoon. He was given assistance by James Brearley, superintendent of the Malahat Logging Co.

According to B.C. Police searchers for Olsen found his name inscribed on a tree about 1,000 yards from the fire at Rounds. This they believe to be a communication from Olsen that he had successfully cleared the fire and was still in the woods, perhaps in an exhausted condition.

Search for the pair was started Saturday night and carried on Sunday and today the search was proceeding for Olsen. Naval patrols on the west coast assisted as it was believed the pair might have worked westward from the fire.

TENSE MOMENT IN CARRIER TRAGEDY—Flame, smoke, debris and shrapnel flew as a 500-pound bomb carried by a navy torpedo bomber accidentally dropped on the flight deck of an unidentified U.S. carrier somewhere in the Pacific. The explosion killed 51 and injured an unreported number. This dramatic picture shows how men dropped to the deck to avoid the blast or because they were injured.

Many Scientific Problems May Be Solved By Study of Eclipse

By GEORGE FINLAY
PINE RIVER, Man. (CP)—

Heralded by a fiery spectacle, a panorama of fast changing color, the total eclipse of the sun today was observed here by Canadian and U.S. astronomers from an observation camp. Sixteen scientists and amateur astronomers, most of them from the U.S. recorded, by camera and delicately tuned instruments, every phase of the solar phenomenon. Perfect conditions for observation prevailed. The sun broke through a cloud bank, shortly before 6:30 a.m., C.D.T. (4:30 a.m. P.D.T.) into a blue tinted sky, with fleecy white clouds far from its path.

For the duration of totality—36.9 seconds—there was a brilliant display of celestial fireworks, the pearly-white corona and the solar prominences, flashing rose-colored streamers shooting out from the sun—all contributing to a magnificent color picture.

CUTS SOLAR EDGE

An hour before totality, the black shadow of the moon swept onward to make its first contact, cutting into the perfect solar edge. Slowly the darkness area increased, and the sun's brilliant surface decreased. Only a slight crescent remained, and soon came totality.

At the period of totality there was a hushed silence over the crowd of several hundred, held back from the observation post by a stout rope line.

Within the enclosure, a timer called off the seconds as a radio clicked off the time, received from the naval observatory at Washington. The only other sound was the whirring of cameras, and the steady hum of an electrical motor.

A cool wind swept the wide open camp, and the astronomers and spectators alike were bundled in coats and sweaters.

From dawn, the eclipse watchers had been in the field, making alignments and focussing telescopes and cameras.

"This is a wonderful success," said Prof. Edward Halbach of Marquette University, leader of a group of amateur astronomers from Milwaukee.

"We were shivering in our boots, but this is it. Wonderful!" Smiling astronomers, many of whom had come more than 1,000 miles by automobile, bus and train, did not hide their feelings.

VISIBILITY PERFECT

The various scientific groups were well satisfied.

"It was a marvelous display," said J. S. Supernaw, past president of the Madison Astronomical Society.

"The visibility was perfect." Long before 6 a.m. townspeople from Pine River and other western Manitoba towns 250 miles from Winnipeg, had started for the astronomers' camp. Some motored more than 50 miles, coming from Dauphin, southwest of here, and from Swan River to the north.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrolled the highway in front of the camp areas, halting all traffic at 7 a.m. (5 a.m. P.D.T.), leaving a clear roadway for more than half a mile at the campsite.

Many solar puzzles await solution and in western Canada, across the path of totality, through Saskatchewan, with observation posts at Wolsley and Bredenbury, and into Manitoba, with stations on isolated Sandy Island, Lake Winnipeg, and Elk Island in God's Lake, 350 miles north of Winnipeg, the astronomers, for the first time since 1932, had a chance to find the answers.

Identify Wreckage Of Crashed Plane With 9 Men Aboard

Wreckage of a plane found in the Clayquot Arm district on the west coast of Vancouver Island has been identified as that of a Canco flying boat which disappeared last Dec. 2 with nine airmen on board. One of the members of the crew of the missing Canco was Flt. Lt. George (Buff) Ramsay of Toronto, whose wife, Marjorie Ramsey, refused to give up hope her husband was still alive. Western Air Command has confirmed that there were no survivors of the crash.

Eight months ago Mrs. Ramsay came west to Vancouver bent on continuing the search for her missing husband. She had dreamed of a "Kent," which she thought might be Kent Island or Kent Inlet in the Queen Charlotte Islands and where she was sure her husband was lost. Air force officials took her on a flight over the area and convinced her everything possible had been done to find her husband. However, she remained on Vancouver Island near Victoria, firm in the belief that her husband was not dead.

By a strange coincidence the wreckage of Flt. Lt. Ramsay's plane was found near Kennedy Lake. The first three letters of Mrs. Ramsay's dream word "Kent" fitted.

A funeral party is on its way to the scene of the crash to conduct burial services.

Yank Goes Berserk, Kills 8 Germans In Prison Camp

SALINA, Utah (AP)—Machine-gun bullets fired by a U.S. soldier killed eight Germans and wounded 20 others asleep in a prisoner of war camp.

Why the soldier turned loose the barrage was a question still publicly unanswered today.

The shooting was done early Sunday, a half hour after Pte. Clarence Bertucci of New Orleans, La., had gone on duty as a guard at the camp housing prisoners working in central Utah farm fields.

Col. Arthur Ericsson, commander of the prisoner of war camp at Ogden, of which the camp here is a branch, said Bertucci, 23, suddenly fired from his post in a guard tower in a tent area in which the prisoners were housed.

Three bursts of fire, including in all 250 shots and lasting no more than 15 seconds, ripped into the tents.

His ammunition expended, Bertucci yelled for more, Ericsson said, but was placed, instead, under arrest on orders of the branch camp commander, Lt. Albert I. Cornell.

In New Orleans, Bertucci's widowed mother said an army officer who notified her of the incident, expressed the opinion the soldier had gone "berserk." "Something must have happened to him," said Mrs. Mary Bertucci, adding that she could not understand her son's action.

Bertucci will be held in custody, Ericsson added, pending consideration of the inquiry board's report.

Russians Remain In Full Control Of Berlin Area

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians remained in complete control today of the entire municipal administration of Berlin, pending a break in the deadlock over the issue of supplying food and fuel for the districts occupied by Britain and the United States.

Col. Frank Howley, chief of the military government of the U.S. occupation zone, declared Sunday night he expected the major powers to decide within a few days on an over-all plan of government for Berlin, but he disclaimed personal knowledge of the immediate issues of food and fuel.

The issue, which may be given the Big Three to decide, was viewed by British and U.S. officials as so serious that withdrawal by the western allies from Berlin may be considered unless a practical solution is reached.

Twin Calves Born

COWICHAN, B.C. (CP)—A cow belonging to Arthur Evans of Cowichan has given birth to twin heifer calves as a result of dual pregnancy.

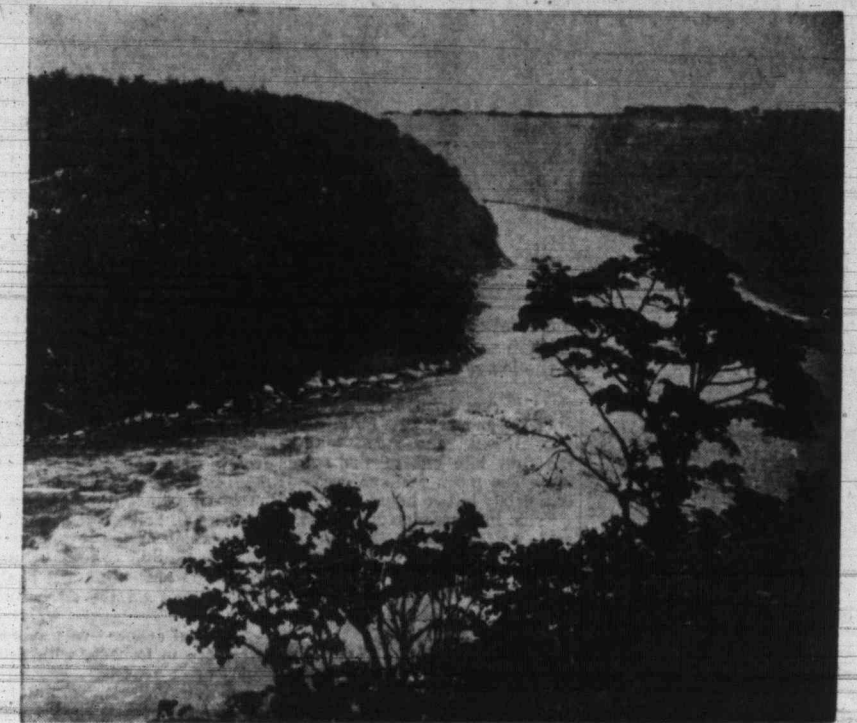

Mr. Evans said one of the calves is of normal nine-month gestation size, while the other is of only eight-month gestation and half the size of the first. Both calves are doing well.

Through Niagara Gorge in Barrel

"Red" aboard, and below, a glimpse of the gorge.

By FRASER MacDOUGAL

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—

While more than 100,000 persons crowded both banks of the canyon, William (Red) Hill Jr., Sunday, rode safely through the Niagara rapids and whirlpool in a specially-constructed barrel, finishing the seven-mile journey at the Queenston docks.

The slightly-built 32-year-old riverman was in the barrel for about two hours. He had been scheduled to start from the Maid of the Mist landing at 2 p.m. Police however had orders to prevent him making the trip and he was met by a police patrol at the Maid of the Mist landing.

Hill had anticipated this. The barrel had been removed earlier and he entered it near the Whirlpool Bridge, a short distance down the river. The barrel was cast loose at 2:45 p.m. and he left it at the Queenston dock at 4:30.

When the flashing barrel swung into the giant whirlpool it started the apparently endless swing around the circuit under the towering cliffs. Within a few minutes Hill opened the hatch of the barrel, put out his head and waved.

BARREL BAILED

Thousands packed on the high bank roared cheers, but Hill's waving had a meaning for his aides. A boat went out to attach itself to the barrel. About five inches of water in the bottom of the barrel was removed, Hill waved again and the hatch was closed once more.

It was about two hours from the start of the journey when the barrel was made fast at the Queenston dock, seven miles below the falls, and Hill stepped ashore.

He looked to be in pretty good shape, but somewhat dazed by the whirling trip he had taken through some of the most dangerous waters in the world.

Hill got into a car and was brought back to Niagara Falls, where it was noticed he had two bad bruises on his arms. He said, however, "It was a pretty good trip." He said it was "not very rough in the whirlpool," and estimated the barrel had been in the whirlpool about 25 minutes.

MAY LAY CHARGE

Provincial police said that as Hill had been notified not to make the trip without a permit, action would probably be taken against him. They would not say, however, under what charge this action might be laid.

The purpose of the trip was to raise money for life-saving equipment as a memorial to his late father, who made the same trip three times—in 1910, 1930 and 1931. The barrel used Sunday was that built for Red Hill Sr. It weighs 750 pounds with 150 pounds of ballast.

Collectors went through the crowd accepting donations, but there was no estimate Sunday night of how much money had been raised for the memorial to the senior Hill and for the life-saving equipment which the son plans.

Residents said Hill's time of an even two hours for the seven-mile trip was the fastest on record.

Roughest part of the trip appeared to be in the rapids, where, watchers said, the barrel appeared to be tossed almost 40 feet in the air. It was during this part of the trip the barrel was dented, shipping about five inches of water and badly bruising Hill's left arm.

Canadian Force For Pacific Best Soldiers in World—Hoffmeister

Maj. Gen. Bert M. Hoffmeister, pictured at Government House.

Expressing enthusiasm for his job as commander of the Canadian force in the Pacific, Maj. Gen. Bert M. Hoffmeister, C.B., C.B.E., D.S.O. and two bars, E.D., said here "there are no better soldiers in the world than the troops I'll have in the Pacific."

Gen. Hoffmeister spent the week-end with Mrs. Hoffmeister at Government House as a guest of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. W. C. Woodward. He returned later to Qualicum Beach to continue his leave before going to Brockville, Ont., at the month's end to set up headquarters. Early in September he will go to Camp Breckinridge, Ky., where the Canadian division will train for the Pacific war.

Although he has never seen the Pacific country, Gen. Hoffmeister anticipated no difficulty in the Canadians' ability to adapt themselves quickly to the change.

"Canadians will fight very well there just as they have everywhere else they've fought," he said.

He had no assurance that they would be engaged in jungle fighting, but if so they would be trained for it, he said.

The fighting force will be made up almost entirely of men who fought in Europe and will be a little younger than the European troops, but "not to any great extent," he said.

CAPTAIN AT WAR'S START

A captain in the Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver when war broke out, the 30-year-old leader is one of the youngest major-generals in the British Empire.

An all-star team composed of absolutely first class men was how he termed the volunteers whom he will command in the Far East. His staff officers are members of his personal staff, and most of the commanders fought under him in Europe.

"They are all hand-picked," he said.

Canadian uniforms will be used in the Pacific fighting, but the troops will be totally reliant on the U.S. for equipment and supplies. The Canadian troops will be more closely integrated with the U.S. Army than they were with the British Army in the European war, but the general expected they would get along with the U.S. men. They got along all right in Europe, he said.

Many misunderstandings were cleared up by Prime Minister Mackenzie King when he met Gen. Hoffmeister on his reference to the plans for the Canadian forces laid down at the Quebec conference, the general said.

"It helped me in my conferences with the U.S. army men at the Pentagon Building," he said. "U.S. equipment was very good, he said, and the change of equipment for the Canadians will not be a big job. 'If a man can handle one piece of equipment he can get on to others sooner than the raw recruit.'"

"I'm most enthusiastic about the whole thing. I think it will work quite well. There are no better soldiers in the world than the troops I'll have in the Pacific," he said.

Questioned about the story in a Vancouver paper that he refused to dry dishes while on a holiday, the general said that when the reporter asked him to pose for a photograph either doing the dishes or mowing the lawn, he refused and said he only did those things when he had to.

WILL RETURN TO OLD JOB

Gen. Hoffmeister, who was back home for a short time in 1942 when he attended staff college, intends to return to the timber business, in which he was employed when war was declared, after hostilities cease.

Refusing to commit himself on the length of time the Japanese war will last, he said he had no opinion as there were too many factors about which he knew nothing.

Canadians will be used as ground forces, he said, with paratroops enlisted as ordinary infantry. Some tankmen will serve as part of the armored regiment, but others were willing to serve as infantry. The employment of armor was limited in the Pacific, but it depended on how and where the war was fought, he said. He will not know the U.S. general he will work with until he is ready to go out to the Orient.

Although he has had no direct contact with the 16th Scottish, they had an excellent reputation overseas, he said. Brig. J. M. Rockingham, D.S.O., of Victoria, whom he called "first class," is one of his brigade commanders.

X-ray examinations of summer school students under the school health program began at Victoria High School today. All students will have their chests X-rayed, with Miss Nellie Jones of the T.B. clinic staff in charge.

Canadians in General Not Held To Blame For Aldershot Rioting

By ALAN NICKLESON

ALDERSHOT, Eng. (CP)—Aldershot, scene of rioting by window-smashing Canadian repatriation troops last Wednesday and Thursday nights, passed what police termed one of the quietest week-ends of the war and, as Sunday night was extremely quiet, there apparently is no danger of renewal of the outbreaks which caused damage estimated at almost $50,000.

All the 4,600 transient army personnel had been moved from the built-up area of this garrison town either to embarkation points or southern England camps, but extra civil police and Canadian Provost Corps members still patrolled in fours.

Canadian soldiers in the area have a black name generally with shopkeepers, but the average householder exonerates Canadians as a group and blames a few trouble-makers for the outbreaks.

That's the consensus gathered in a tour through the battered shopping district, where the troops staged the outbreaks mainly in protest against repatriation delay, and in talks with shopkeepers, clerks and Saturday shoppers.

CLERKS SHOW DISLIKE

It was not a happy assignment for a reporter wearing "Canada" flashes on his tunic because some clerks were abrupt in showing dislike for Canadians.

Of course, there were some business men and clerks who held little grudge against the Canadians, except for the group who did the damage, but they were in the minority and mainly persons whose premises escaped damage. At any rate, owners of damaged stores know they will be reimbursed by the Canadian government.

Perhaps the shopkeepers' feeling was best expressed by a woman clerk in a main street men's wear store which had two of its four plate glass windows smashed.

"This takes a long time to forget entirely and for the time being, at least, we look with suspicion on any Canadian soldier," she said. "When we pass them on the street we wonder if they took part in the rioting and when they come into our shop we think the same."

On the other hand, a man in pub who has lived in Aldershot throughout the war as a civilian, said: "The Canadians generally behaved well here and I think by far the majority of Aldershot residents realize the outbreaks were the work of an irresponsible few and won't hold it against the Canadians in general."

Probably the person in Aldershot most bitter against the Canadians is a man who runs a small book shop on a side street. He told this reporter "I have no time for any Canadians," turned his back and continued reading a pamphlet.

WOMAN MOLESTED

Pressed for the reason, he said:

"My niece went through the blitz and came here to recuperate. During the second night's riot my shop front window was smashed and my niece was pulled through the space where the window had been by three big Canadian soldiers. That's why. Good day."

He refused to comment further, but this was the first indication that any civilian was interfered with during the rioting.

Meanwhile throughout the week-end the court of inquiry into the outbreak continued sitting in private and when it concludes early this week a half-dozen or so Canadian soldiers probably will be tried by court-martial.

No more trouble is expected. The remaining Canadians in the Aldershot area, such as hundreds of reinforcements and the permanent barracks staff, were not believed to have had anything to do with the rioting, although it is their lot to stay behind and bear the brunt of what hostile feeling remains.

The three main repatriation depots in Aldershot now are empty of Canadian transients and no more will be brought here. British troops in the area now far outnumber the Canadians.

Plane Crashes in Lake, 2 R.C.A.F. Men Drown

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two R.C.A.F. airmen were drowned Sunday when their plane crashed into a lake 450 miles north of The Pas, Man. It was reported here today. R.C.A.F. officials here said details of the accident had not reached them and they declined to disclose the identity of the airmen until next-of-kin had been notified. It was learned one body had been recovered.

Mc INTERNATIONAL SCENE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

One of the most interesting spectacles of the week-end has been that of Japan's notorious Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura doing a bit of vigorous fishing in the peace pool.

Nomura is by way of being an expert on peace—that is, on some aspects of it. He's the fellow who was in Washington as the Mikado's special envoy, talking peace and expressing Nippon's deep affection for Uncle Sam when the Japs made their treacherous attack at Pearl Harbor. His name is deeply engraved on American memory.

The admiral—casting a long line in the hope of hooking a bit of information—says the Allies' policy of unconditional surrender is only costing them higher casualties. He admits there's no sign they are suffering from weariness, but declares: "As long as the enemy asks for Japan's unconditional surrender she will have to shed blood proportionate to the time and intensity of each battle."

Nomura has been about a bit and isn't silly enough to think any such statement would affect the Allied war program. Undoubtedly he is trying to draw from the Allies some further, more concrete, declaration as to what "unconditional surrender" entails. Why? Well, because Japan knows she is beaten and she is looking about to see what can be salvaged from the wreckage.

Things must indeed look black to Tokyo. The homeland is virtually isolated by the Allied naval and air blockade. Japan cannot feed herself, and already is faced with a food crisis. We are just hitting our stride in the aerial bombardment, which will be more terrible than anything the world has seen.

Meantime there is a widespread impression among observers abroad that the question of Russia's attitude towards coming into the war against Japan will be discussed at the forthcoming conference of the Big Three in Berlin. No wonder Tokyo is anxious about peace terms. Even if Russia remains neutral, Japan's goose is cooked: If the Muscovites come in, it will mean an even quicker defeat and quite likely much tougher terms.

Hon. H. A. Robson, Chief Justice, Dies In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mr. Justice Hugh Amos Robson, Chief Justice of the Manitoba Court of King's Bench and former provincial Liberal leader, died early today.

Death came to the 73-year-old jurist after an illness of more than a month.

Mr. Justice Robson, former Liberal member of the Legislature for Winnipeg, and former Deputy Attorney-General of the Northwest Territories, had played a prominent part in western Canada since he came to Canada from England with his parents in 1882 at the age of 11.

He received three appointments to the judiciary, the first in 1910 as a puisne judge on the Court of King's Bench. In 1930 he was appointed a puisne judge of the Manitoba Court of Appeal and 14 years later was made Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench. From 1912 to 1915 he was a member of the Manitoba Public Utilities Commission.

The University of Manitoba conferred an honorary LL.D. degree on him.

He married Fannie Laidlaw in 1897 and there are two sons and four daughters.

He was born at Barrow-in-Furness, Eng.

Famous Yacht Sunk In Toronto Gale

TORONTO (CP)—A sharp, violent thunderstorm which hit Toronto late Saturday, played havoc with yachts in Toronto Bay and sank the Aphrodite— noted winner of the George Cup, traditional Lake Ontario racing trophy.

The storm struck as Aphrodite was entering the harbor, overturned the vessel and battered her against the breakwater until she sank. A rescue boat hurrying to the scene saw the three-man crew was safe and veered off to assist the Elvento which, with 13 men aboard, had been stripped of canvas by the squall and lay helpless without auxiliary power, seven miles off shore. The Elvento was towed back to harbor.

Pacific Air Chief Arrives in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Vice-Marshal C. Roy Slemmon of Winnipeg and Bowmanville, Ont., recently named air officer commanding the R.C.A.F.'s Pacific force, arrived at Rockcliffe airport Sunday after a flight from overseas.

Vice-Marshal Slemmon, the first pilot to be trained and to fly solo in the Canadian Air Force after the First Great War, was met at the airport by Mrs. Slemmon, Air Marshal Robert Leckie, chief of air staff, and other ranking officers.

Uppermost in his mind at this time, he said, was Canada's share in the war in the Pacific.

"Canadian airmen are volunteering to serve in that theatre, and now are preparing themselves for their tasks," he said. "They are determined to see that Canada helps in finishing that job properly. But for all that, their willingness and devotion to duty are not the only things needed. They must have your backing—the same 'full-out' backing that carried them to victory in Europe."

As Group Capt. Slemmon, the chief of Canada's air force in the Pacific, was well known in Victoria after the outbreak of war, when he served at Western Air Command Headquarters.

Stalin Would Preserve Anglo-Russian Ties

MOSCOW (Reuter)—Firm desire to keep firm the Anglo-Soviet Alliance was expressed by Premier Stalin to Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, when the Russian Premier received the Dean Friday night.

Dr. Johnson quoted Premier Stalin as saying: "It was easy to keep together when we were fighting side by side against the might of Germany. But the Germans are beaten now and it is less easy when the tension is gone to avoid friction."

"We want to do it. We want to keep firm the union, not only in words but in deeds... if your political will do it, we will do it."

16,350 Canadians Coming Home On Ss. Queen Mary, Ile de France

LONDON (CP)—A force of 16,350 Canadians is bound for Canada in the liners Queen Mary and Ile de France.

The Queen Mary is due to dock in New York Wednesday while the Ile de France is expected at Halifax Saturday.

The Queen Mary left Gourock, Scotland, Friday night, 24 hours after a group of Canadian soldiers had smashed store windows in Aldershot mainly due to resentment at delay in repatriation, but a Canadian army spokesman said the movement was routine and not a result of the demonstrations at Aldershot. The Ile de France sailed Saturday.

The Queen Mary also carries about 8,000 U.S. troops.

Some 6,650 Canadian Army other ranks are included in the Queen Mary's total passenger list of 15,000, while the Ile de France carries 8,700 Canadians, including more than 5,000 R.C.A.F. personnel, 4,000 from the army and a sprinkling of navy, C.W.A.C. members, Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service personnel and nursing sisters.

The two ships have aboard both repatriates and volunteers for the Canadian Far East Force.

Among the troops are "many" who took part in the Aldershot demonstrations, a Canadian army spokesman said, and one Canadian soldier, in fact, was on the ship ready to sail for home when he was taken off to face the Aldershot court of inquiry as an alleged ringleader in the window-smashing incidents.

45,000 SINCE V-E DAY

OTTAWA (CP)—Since V-E Day, just two months ago, some 45,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen have returned to Canada, it is disclosed in figures compiled by the three services.

The total is made up of 23,000 soldiers, 12,600 airmen and approximately 10,000 sailors. In addition, a large army contingent is expected to reach Canadian shores this week.

The naval figure is necessarily less definite than that of the other two services because naval personnel do not reach Canadian shores in such large groups. The approximate of 10,000—covers men who were at sea and at shore bases outside Canada and who have returned home since V-E Day.

Defence Minister McNaughton announced last week that under present plans 126,000 servicemen—101,530 soldiers and 24,470 airmen—will be brought home in the last six months of this year. This will leave more than 125,000 army personnel, excluding the occupation force of 35,000 still overseas.

Air-Sea Lifeboats In Successful Rescue On North Atlantic

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Force headquarters said here the rescue of six members of the R.C.A.F. from the sea off Newfoundland Friday marked the first successful operational dropping of an air-sea rescue lifeboat in North American Atlantic waters.

All air-sea rescue lifeboats are equipped with emergency rations, water and many other articles, including a well-stocked first aid kit which was particularly useful in this instance as all five men had suffered varying degrees of injuries.

The five fliers, now safely back at Gander, Nfld., took to dinghies when their aircraft was forced down while searching for the R.A.F. Transport Command Liberator which disappeared while bearing British officials home from the San Francisco Conference.

The airmen were found by an R.C.A.F. Liberator which promptly flashed work back to base. Another R.C.A.F. aircraft, a Hudson bearing air-sea rescue equipment, flew out to the scene and dropped the lifeboat. The men then were picked up from the lifeboat by an R.A.F. Canoe and flown to Newfoundland. A Royal Canadian naval ship picked up the lifeboat.

British 'Vigilantes' Seize Empty Houses

BRIGHTON, Eng. (CP)—Britain's "Vigilantes," groups of ex-servicemen who seized unoccupied homes and turn them over to homeless families of other servicemen, shed their secrecy Sunday with an announcement the movement was spreading.

Harold Steer, former navy man and a leader of the original group formed in Brighton, told an open air meeting that inquiries for details of the organization had been received from London, Portsmouth, Sheffield, Liverpool and other cities.

"I have told them, 'If you see a house take it and let the law do its damndest,'" Mr. Steer declared. "We've started a movement which we hope and pray will spread over the length and breadth of the land."

The shortage of houses has become an increasingly difficult public problem as army demobilization continues, and newspapers have been flooded with letters protesting landlords' permitting some properties to stand vacant in view of the urgent demand for housing.

British Ration Of Meat Stands

LONDON (Reuter)—Britons will not eat more meat as a result of the reimposition of meat rationing in Canada, although Canada's reductions will assist in maintaining at its present standing the weekly ration in the United Kingdom.

"Any savings effected will go into the United Nations pool," a food ministry official declared. "They will not be sufficient to permit any increase in the ration here."

ATHENS (Reuter)—Brig. Preston, commanding British troops in Crete, in a speech at Canes said Crete had been cleared of German troops except for a few technicians remaining to clear mines and sort out war material.

Matsqui Woman Dies In Bus-Auto Crash

ABBOTSFORD, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. John Hospital, 43, of Matsqui, B.C., was killed instantly and her husband was slightly injured late Saturday when their automobile was in collision with a Pacific Stages bus on the Trans-Canada Highway about five miles west of Abbotsford.

It is believed Mr. Hospital attempted to pass another automobile going west when he collided with the eastbound bus. None of the passengers in the bus was injured.

Dog Causes Death Of Alberta Boy

CLARESHOLM, Alta. (CP)—A little boy is dead and a small curly-haired dog still frolics through his yard unaware he was responsible for the death of his 12-year-old master.

John Francis (Jack) Dunlop died in the Clareholm hospital Saturday evening as a result of an accident the evening of June 22.

Jack was riding his bicycle in front of his home in Gram when his dog Rover darted in front of him, colliding with the front wheel of the bicycle. In an effort to avoid injuring the dog the little boy lost control of the bicycle and fell forward on the handlebars.

Suffering from severe abdominal injuries, he was taken to the hospital in Clareholm the following day.

Following the accident Jack's grandmother rushed out to ask him if he was all right. The young boy replied "Oh, I'm fine, but I think I've hurt Rover."

Although Jack lost his own life through the accident, Rover was not injured.

STABILIZE THE COALITION

RUMBLINGS FROM VANCOUVER, echoed in a minor key in one or two quarters here, suggest that part of the "important business" which will engage the attention of the coalition caucus on Wednesday may test the solidity of the present arrangement between the provincial Liberal and Conservative parties. Rabid zealots in the old political schools are slow to read the changing thoughts and understand the moods of the times.

The lesson of the recent federal election has left little impress on the single-track mind. It is thus not to be wondered at that diehards in both Liberal and Tory camps are blithely advocating the redrawing of the imaginary line of demarcation which used to separate the two in the provincial field. But perhaps they miss the fleshpots—the aroma of the old patronage brew which offended the olfactory sense of all who prefer good government to party manoeuvre. And it must annoy the disciple of "smart politics" as he hears of the province-wide popularity of the coalition administration.

We have already said in these columns that any serious suggestion of a return to the old party lines would instantly incur the wrath of the great majority of an intelligent electorate. The very idea of such a procedure, of course, is obnoxious to both Mr. Hart and Mr. Maitland; that is one of many reasons why Wednesday's deliberations of the coalition caucus should be used as a means of deciding this issue on its broad principles. For, as the Vancouver Daily Province observed editorially the other day, "to say the coalition government is well liked in British Columbia is putting it mildly; it has earned its popularity . . . and it will be a pleasant change to be able to keep a government in power because it deserves to be kept there." The opinion of our mainland contemporary should be noted by those "practical" politicians—as the Vancouver News-Herald calls them—who would "break up British Columbia's coalition government."

It would perhaps be unfair to say that all the anti-coalition rumblings are coming from Vancouver—or that minor echoes are not heard elsewhere besides Victoria—but Vancouver is Canada's third largest city and it, and its immediate environs send more than a fifth of the total membership to the provincial Legislature. Out of the 10 elected from Vancouver and Burnaby in the 1941 contest, for example, no fewer than seven are supporters of Mr. Winch, while the other three, including Mr. Maitland, are Conservatives. Do die-hards of the older parties see any prospect here of victories in three-cornered contests in the next British Columbia election? They are supreme optimists if they do.

It must be patent to Liberals and Progressive Conservatives alike, therefore, that—to quote the Vancouver Province again—there must be coalition all the way down the line, not only at the top, and especially coalition of the party organizations in the constituencies. In other words, if the members who will be meeting here in caucus on Wednesday are imbued with the idea of continuing the same type of government as that which has won the present administration such laurels in this province and farther afield, they will turn a deaf ear to all those partisan voices which seem to prefer the hurly-burly of outmoded political wrangling to stability and progress.

DIVIDE AND LOSE

IT IS TOO LATE IN THE DAY FOR Frenchmen, Germans and Italians to bemoan the fact that one of the main causes of political instability in those countries before free elections went out of fashion was the multiplicity of parties appealing for support at the polls. It is nevertheless timely to recall the distribution of votes in the two elections held in Germany in 1932. In July and November of that year, nine recognized and scattered parties nominated their candidates for election to the Reichstag, and for our purpose it is only necessary to consider the first four. Here is the table which shows the number of seats won:

	July	Nov.
National Socialists (Nazi)	230	195
Social Democrats (Liberal)	133	121
Communists	89	100
Centrists (Catholic)	75	70

It will be seen from the above that the Socialist-Communist-Centrist, or anti-Hitler, parties alone had a plurality over the National Socialists of 67 after the July election and had increased it to 96 four months later, and with the other parties included, this majority would have been increased by 81 and 97, respectively. Thus if the three principal anti-fascist parties had marshalled their forces against Hitler and his gang in the first or second of the last free elections in Germany, the whole course of history might have been changed. The moral of this should be easy for all intelligent people to understand. It can be applied to any political condition anywhere. British Columbians can profit by it if they will recognize its significance for their own affairs.

In the name of decency, why ask people not to travel? If trains are needed to move soldiers, why sell tickets for pleasure travel?

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS

WHEN JAPAN'S BIG PAPER BALLOONS first made their appearance over this coast, authorities who were kept informed on their arrival and the number making the stratosphere passage were deeply concerned over the menace they posed for British Columbia's tinder-dry forests. They were generally seen as potent weapons of economic warfare, capable of destroying vital timber wealth. Had they set the woods alight, that would have been in the nature of a war crime.

During the last few days, Victorians, as well as people on other parts of Vancouver Island, have had emphasized to them once again the destruction that arises from bush fires. A red sun in a smoke-coppered sky has indicated the size of the areas which had been burned over. With the demand for lumber as heavy as it is today, there may be some excuse for the logger to continue operations even though he knows the hazard to the woods is vastly increased. There is some justification for the risk he runs. But it is safe to say that human carelessness is accountable for a large number of the outbreaks which blacken forest lands every summer. There is criminal carelessness in the action of the smoker who throws away a match or butt which is not properly out. There is criminal carelessness on the part of the person who lights a camp fire on dangerous ground.

Under present conditions, with grass and brush ready to blaze like gasoline, too many precautions cannot be taken to protect the forests which constitute so major a part of British Columbia's wealth. And the person who fails to take those precautions is more dangerous to the state than enemy balloons.

WORTH A TRY

ACCORDING TO REPORTS OF THE last Esquimalt Council meeting, the administrative body of that municipality is far from satisfied with the increase in garbage disposal charges made by the city. Councillor G. R. Guillemaud has even gone so far as to suggest Esquimalt should find means of its own for disposing of its refuse. That is a very constructive suggestion. If the municipality can develop a system to replace that used in Victoria, and thereby avoid the return of garbage to the beaches, it will have made a major contribution to the welfare of the area.

NO DISTINCTION AS TO SEX

CANADIANS READING THE PRE-amble to the United Nations' Charter will have been impressed by the fact that those who drafted the document were most specific in listing all who should benefit from its provisions. They did not consider it sufficient to pledge members to promote and encourage "respect for human rights and for fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, language or religion." They wrote into the section that no discrimination should arise over the sex of the individual.

Equality of the sexes has been the standard here for so long that it has been taken for granted. There have been charges of bias in respect of earning capacities and rights, with the male enjoying the privilege, it is true; but that unbalance is constantly being reduced through adoption of the practice of granting equal pay for equal work. Moreover, the policy will gain headway continually here as women exert their prerogatives to a greater extent. With the franchise, they have the power to send their representatives to Parliament and through parliamentary action they can, when they unify their approach, secure the legislation they wish and to which they consider themselves entitled. The remedy to any injustice under which they may labor lies in their own hands.

Why, then, should it be necessary to specify sex in the Charter? That is a question which may well arise in a country which has reached the stage of democratic evolution at which Canada has arrived. It is a specification that would be unnecessary if all other nations were at the same level. But since they are not, it will emphasize to Canadians the advances which have been made in their country in contrast to some others. And it might influence them to study in greater detail some of the other logical purposes of the Charter which are taken for granted here, but which will be revolutionary among certain member nations of that organization on which hopes for future peace and security rest.

PUT PROVINCE FIRST

ONE VANCOUVER POLITICAL WRITER, speculating on the "harvest" of the coalition caucus, says Liberals feel that from a straight party point of view it would suit their interests better to go to the voters at the next provincial election on a straight Liberal ticket. He further informs us that these Liberals think such a policy "might be a licking" for them; "but they also feel that the party could absorb a licking and come back later."

Do our Liberal friends in this province remember what happened to the Liberal Party in Great Britain after the defeat of the first Labor government in 1924—when the followers of Mr. Lloyd George and the "We Free" branch under Mr. Asquith still refused to heal the breach which appeared eight years earlier? The Labor Party, taking first opposition place in 1922, retained it, won a striking victory at the general election in 1929, and may have solidified its position as a result of last week's contest. However, if sufficient Liberals in British Columbia really want to remove their influence from the coalition—and the same argument applies to the Conservatives—the C.C.F. will give them their blessing. But the wise ones are scarcely likely to trust to a "comeback later."

Party-Line Folly

By J. H. GRAY

IT TOOK THE GERMAN COMMUNISTS 12 years and a world war to come to it, but they have finally admitted the error of their ways. Or, more precisely: the heirs of what is left of the German Communist movement, which was once the most powerful in Europe, have now admitted that German Communist leaders in 1932 led their party and the German state down the garden path to destruction. This admission is contained in the first manifesto of the new German Communist party which arose from the rubble of Berlin. The manifesto said, simply, that the German Communists were in part to blame for the Hitler regime because they had not worked to obtain an anti-Nazi coalition.

The sight of German Communists eating crow would merit only passing notice if it were not for this fact—it is a superb illustration of the inherent folly of rigid political party lines. To the Marxist, whether he be a mild socialist of the C.C.F. right wing or an intransigent Trotskyist, deviation from the adopted line is heresy which cannot be tolerated. History is full of Marxian heresy hunters. Sir Stafford Cripps was expelled from the British Labor Party for heresy. Trotsky paid with his life for his heretical opinions. The Canadian Communist Party has purged hundreds of members. The C.C.F. has hunted out, and thrown out, heretics in Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia.

THE CHARGE NEVER VARIES—disagreement with the official theory of the party majority. The tragedy of our times is that if there had been more heretics in the German Communist and German Social Democratic parties, Hitler might not have come to power. But in the Germany of 1932 the Marxists were more interested in destroying each other than in destroying Hitler. Hitler came to power in part because of the division in the ranks of his opponents. To the extent that this was a factor in his success, he came to power because the Communist theory of the moment was more highly esteemed than all the facts staring the Communists in the face.

That theory was that Fascism was the final stage of capitalism. It was on this outrageous theory that anti-Hitler unity in Germany foundered.

THE THEORY WAS expounded on the soap boxes in Market Square in Winnipeg, in Union Square in New York, in Red Square in Moscow, and in the Berlin suburb of Spandau. It was elaborated in books by John Strachey. It was the crowning theory of Marxism-Leninism-Stalinism. All Marxists who opposed this view were "social-fascists." Liberals who saw the resurgence of German nationalism manifested in Nazism were war-mongers and worse. A world-wide Fascist state was in the cards unless the Communist revolution could beat it to the punch. There were only two groups in the world, the Communists and all others.

Leon Trotsky was wrong many times. But he saw things clearly in 1932 when he called for union of the Communists and Social Democrats in Germany to block Hitler's path to power. A few German Social Democrats saw things clearly, too. They wanted Moscow to change the German Communist line, for it could only be changed by Moscow. Moscow refused. The German Communists, engulfed in their theory, denounced advocates of anti-Nazi union as counter-revolutionaries.

BUT WHEN HITLER came to power, and the terror descended upon the Communists, the theory was abandoned and the line changed quickly. It was then too late. Unity became the Communist line, unity with everybody. There arose, spontaneously throughout the world, the League Against War and Fascism. It was followed later by the League for Peace and Democracy. Russia, which had habitually denounced the League of Nations for 15 years as the "League of Brigands," rushed into the League. Mr. Litvinov made his great speech.

History will assess the full weight of the blunder of the German Communists. It will as well assess the weight of the blunder of the other Communists in 1939 when they refused to join in the struggle against Hitlerism. In weighing the evidence it must surely pause long and carefully over the queer sort of fog that depends upon the socialist mind when it rubs against the facts of political reality.

THE RECORD OF THE German Communist Party points up another fact. Such outfits as the Communist Party and the C.C.F., with their sacrosanct party lines and intolerance of dissenters, are self-stifling organizations. The more successful they are in ridding themselves of dissenters, the less practical does their program become and more fuzzy their theories. Case-hardened party lines can have no real value in a democracy, where all our fine theories are always under review and only those acid-tested by dissent survive. The case-hardened party line is for the child-like ideologists who play with the idea that they are a revolutionary force in society. Playing at making revolutions may intrigue them, but the world moves far too quickly for them today. The German Communists discovered that in 1932.

CONSIDER THE TEACHER

Robert McKeown in the Ottawa Citizen
"Pretty soft just the same," says the skeptical parent. "Two whole months holiday with pay."
The only trouble is that the teacher's salary is an annual one and he doesn't get an extra penny for the summer. But the holidays? Nix. The school board has let him know that he is expected to improve his knowledge at summer school.
Still it's an easy life for the teacher—after he gets superannuated at 65.

Brief Background For India Picture

AS THE spotlight turns again to the Indian political scene, the United Kingdom Information Office presents an interesting general condensation of community groupings and parties. Of the sub-continent's approximately 400,000,000 people, the 1941 census states Hindus numbered nearly 255,000,000, including more than 206,000,000 caste Hindus and nearly 50,000,000 scheduled castes, i.e., "untouchables"; Moslems, more than 92,000,000; Sikhs, more than 5,500,000, and various small communities. The most obvious cleavage is, therefore, between the Hindu (nearly 66 per cent of the total population) and the Moslem (about 23 per cent of the total population).

Political parties present a more complex pattern.

THE CONGRESS PARTY, Indian Nationalist Party founded in 1885, is the most influential, single political organization in India. In the 1935 election it got 15,000,000 votes out of 35,000,000 and formed cabinets in seven out of 11 provinces having autonomous legislatures. It has the strong support of the Hindu press, the legal profession and many great Indian industrialists. It is much under the influence of high caste Hindus, especially B. R. Ambedkar (members of the priestly caste). The total number of Brahmmins in India is about 12,000,000. Though to a great extent an organization of high caste Hindus, and commanding little mass support from the Moslems, the Congress Party, as the "Nationalist" Party, has the support of some individual Moslems. The president of the party is at present a Moslem, Maulana Abul Kalam Azad. Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, was once a Congressman.

The Congress policies during the last 20 years were shaped largely by Gandhi, who wants an entirely independent India, does not believe in separate representation of scheduled castes and for this reason has not the support of two of the three organizations of scheduled castes. He opposed help to Britain against the Axis on the ground that Britain should withdraw from India.

ALL INDIA MUSLIM LEAGUE, founded in 1906, has more than doubled its membership since 1939, won 42 out of 50 provincial elections between 1937-43, has well over one million members, wants an independent India but wants also "Pakistan"—division of India so that the areas where the Muslims are in the majority (e.g. in the north-west and eastern zones they were said to be seventy millions) shall be grouped together "to constitute independent states as Muslim free, national home lands in which the constituent units shall be autonomous and sovereign."

It is opposed to Congress and its anti-war policy and civil disobedience campaign on the grounds that the triumph of the Congress "Nationalist" cause would merely mean Muslims subject to Hindus instead of to the British.

SCHEDULED CASTES—The fifty millions who make up the scheduled castes are said to include about 90 per cent of all India factory workers. They are represented on the existing Viceroy's Executive Council by Dr. Ambedkar, Labor member. They have representation in the central and the provincial legislatures, and have as their main all India organizations the All India Scheduled Castes Federation, led by Dr. Ambedkar, and the All India Depressed Classes Association, President: Rao Badahur Sivaraj.

Both the latter organizations want the scheduled castes to have the status of separate elements in national life with distinct political, economic and social rights, and they are therefore opposed to Congress. They support the war effort wholeheartedly.

The third scheduled castes or

Where Tennis Balls Went in This War

Twenty-three million tennis balls, the United Kingdom's wartime output, were used by British industry in a brilliant plan to defeat the German magnetic mine. Early in the war experts were asked to solve a major problem which was threatening the success of Britain's new mine-sweeping technique. This technique involved the use of mine-sweepers which towed behind them each about 500 yards of electric cable. Powerful electric current generated inside the ships, was to be passed through the cables into the sea, and thus explode all mines in the area by the electric discharge. But the cables had to be made to float.

This was the stumbling block which the scientists had to overcome. They soon hit upon a simple solution; it was to carry the electric wires on a cable made of tennis balls, pressed and packed tightly, one after the other, to form one long self-buoyant cable. The plan was entirely successful. Since then United Kingdom manufacturers have used a total of 23,000,000 tennis balls to make hundreds of buoyant sets, involving over 1,000,000 yards of cable.

THIS WAR FOUR YEARS AGO July 9, 1941—Britain completed arrangements to supply war materials to Soviet Russia. Heavy fighting continued in the Polotsk, Lepel and Novograd areas of the Russian front. Vichy requested Britain for an immediate armistice in Syria.

The Sikhs form a separate community of about 5,500,000, mainly concentrated in the Punjab, which they claim to have ruled till 1849. They produce a large number of soldiers, want an independent India, but are opposed to the Hindu conception of caste and to Moslem plans to divide India.

OTHER smaller parties include the Hindu Mahasabha which represents the conservative Hindu tradition. The membership is about a quarter of a million and is increasing. They are opposed to Congress "nationalist" policies, to any relaxation in Hindu caste rules and to Moslem "Parkistan." They want a Hindu Raj over an undivided India, having full Dominion status.

Communists, probably between 4,000 and 5,000 members, want a socialist state on the Soviet model. The All India Kisan Sabha Party with probably several thousand members is also under Communist inspiration.

The Radical Democratic Party, an anti-Congress party, opposing also landlordism, wants democratic freedom with effective political power, social emancipation, reduced rents and taxes. It had about 1,500 members in 1941. It has several other small sections including All India Trade Union Congress, Indian Federation of Labor, All India Students Federation, and Anglo-Indians.

WINDFALLS are not inevitable!

To city dwellers, a "windfall" usually means some good luck. To fruit-growers and farmers, though, it means good fruit spoiled by falling from the trees before picking-time.

"WINDFALLS"—the fruit that falls from the trees before it is ripe—were thought by farmers to be an inevitable loss. But—chemists thought they could do something about it.

And they did . . . they developed a hormone spray that actually prevents pre-harvest drop, enables the fruit to develop fully, to take on a more attractive colour. It also extends the picking season, which is really something when labour is scarce.

The benefit is to the consumer—as well as to the farmer: PARMONE—for this is the name of this new fruit fixative—has solved a major problem of fruit culture just as so many other products of chemistry have solved other problems for agriculture and industry. Chemistry bates waste!

Local Observers Have Clear View Of Partial Eclipse

A party of amateur astronomers and the staff of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here got up early this morning and were at Little Saanich Mountain as the sun came up at 5.20 with 90 per cent of its face obscured by the shadow of the moon.

Despite the heavy smoke from the forest fires up-island, the horizon was clear, Dr. J. A. Pearce of the Observatory staff reported, and the party had an unobstructed view of the phenomenon, which happens once in a lifetime in most localities.

Everything went according to schedule, Dr. Pearce said, and the crescent of light that was the sun gradually grew until by 6.15 the eclipse was over and the sun was shining brightly again.

Arthur Swanson, one member of the party, took more than 100 feet of film with his 16 mm. movie camera, using a number of different exposures. Mrs. J. Maltwood, another member of the party, sketched the occurrence.

With Mount Baker and the Cascade Mountains in the background, the sun in partial eclipse was a beautiful sight, Dr. Pearce declared. They used lantern slide plates as smoked glass, through which the sun was observed.

No word has been received yet from the Observatory party headed by Dr. C. S. Beals which has gone to Bredenburg, Sask., to observe the total eclipse with Dr. Donald Menzel of Harvard. The chances of there being clear skies for the view were very good, he said.

Others included in the party were Lionel Taylor, J. Maltwood, Miss Y. Langworthy, librarian of the Astronomical Society, and the Astronomical Society, Prof. E. Skepping of the University of Alberta and Mrs. Keeping, Miss Langworthy and several naval personnel.

Women Saboteurs Given Polish Medal

LONDON (CP) — Two women who for five years avoided the Gestapo and as a reward for their underground activities were awarded their country's V.C. — the Polish Virtuti Militari — came to London to tell of the special espionage and fifth column work they performed.

Maj. Janing Karas, formerly chief liaison officer for the Polish home army, and Maj. Wanda Lenar, commander of the anti-Nazi sabotage organization in Poland, said that with a specially trained band of 100 girls they not only succeeded in ruining thousands of gallons of urgently needed gasoline but also maintained contact between Gen. Bor and the late Gen. Sikorski.

Other activities included the damaging of precision instrument factories, burning of stores and the cutting of railway lines. In fact, so great was the havoc caused by this women's force that the Germans maintained an entire army group in an endeavor to counteract their activities.

The two majors were only captured once, and although the Gestapo had offered large rewards for their arrest, the Germans failed to recognize them and turned them loose.

All-White Wedding For Isabel Ramsay

A gown of white slipper satin with bouffant skirt, long-fitted bodice and full-length sleeves was chosen by Isabel Leonore, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Ramsay, Manor Road, for her marriage Friday evening to James Vincent Walker of Chilliwack. Maj. Melville, army chaplain, officiated at the ceremony in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father and carried a white testament covered with tulle and roses and showered with orange blossoms. Her finger-tip veil fell from a Grecian head-dress.

Mrs. J. A. Miller, matron of honor, and Miss Sheila MacArthur, bridesmaid, wore similar floor-length gowns of white jersey with white halo headpieces and short veils and carried colonial bouquets. Groomsman was Charles Collins of Vancouver.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the priory, where Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay received the guests. The toast to the bride was proposed by Duncan MacBride.

For the honeymoon, the bride donned a suit of heavenly blue taffeta and matching small feather hat.

A gown of white satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline, lily-point sleeves and long train was worn by the bride, who was given away by her brother, Herbert Brown. A Mary Stuart head-dress confined her long veil, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations, centred with gardenias.

Pill box hats of flowers complimented the pastel gowns of the three attendants. Miss Edna Bryan in peach taffeta; Miss Maxine Foster and Miss Edith Coles in lavender and powder blue sheer respectively. They carried carnations and violets in colonial arrangements. Chief St. Walter Thyme, R.C.N., was groomsman, and ushering were Stokers Duncan McLean and "Curley" Crystal, both R.C.N.R.

A reception was held at the Hard of Hearing Hall, where J. W. Casey, an old family friend, proposed the toast to the bride. Leaving for a honeymoon in Vancouver, the bride wore a pink flowered crepe frock with queen's blue coat with bleached wolf collar, white accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

Assembly Line Furniture Will Follow V-J Day

NEW YORK (CP)—Chairs and tables will be stamped out like automobile bodies when the war is over. Wartime developments with molded plywood and light-weight metals such as aluminum and magnesium are expected to result in mass production of better furniture at lower-than-ever cost.

Laminated wood home furniture was introduced just before the war. Since then the material has been used almost exclusively for glider planes, small seagoing craft and other vital war products.

J. Gordon Lippincott, head of Dohner & Lippincott, industrial designers, predicted molded plywood furniture would be in production six months after the Japanese war ends.

"Mass production cut automobile prices, and mass production of furniture should result in a better product for less money," he said. "The expanded plant capacity is so great that competition will force furniture prices down within three or four years when production reaches its peak."

Lippincott disclosed molding processes had been perfected through war uses, plants already were equipped with machinery to turn out plywood products and civilian production could begin as soon as materials were available.

"Furniture design may be greatly influenced by plywood," in the opinion of Mark Apfel, advertising director of Modern Age Furniture Co. "Bonding glues of such indestructibility have been produced that plywood will be infinitely superior in strength and flexibility, pointing the way to stamped out and bent plywood forms of extreme versatility."

NEW CONSTRUCTION IDEAS
Asserting there would be revolutionary changes in furniture design after the war, Walter P. Margulies, interior design director of Dohner & Lippincott, said:

"New materials will bring an entirely new concept of construction." He added that furniture would tend towards round, flowing lines, instead of the squared off effects of the past because design was determined basically by the qualities and limitations of the materials used.

Wooden furniture, he said, was built on a skeleton construction principle with joints and supports giving the piece its strength from within. Molded plywood acquires comparable strength from the outside through monocoque or "stressed skin" construction—a type exemplified by an egg.

The trend towards smaller homes, Margulies predicted, would bring "lighter weight, smaller and lower, more comfortable furniture—made to fit the human anatomy."

No Boy Friends, Longevity Recipe

RHUDDLAN, Wales (CP)—At the age of 112, Miss Isobel Shepherd took her first holiday and at the same time explained the reason she had lived so long was "I have never had a boy friend."

She still reads without glasses and keeps up with the news after her work as a washerwoman is done, but clings steadfastly to the customs of the 19th century, the clothing of which she claims also has something to do with her many years.

She wears two vests, a heavy-weight antique-style corset, a couple of bodices, four petticoats and two pairs of black woolen stockings. And her long gowns do not reveal one inch of ankle.

Before joining the army, Cfn. Jones was employed in the freight department of the C.P.R.

Dorothy Dix

THE CONSIDERATE FATHER

Dear Miss Dix: I have a very good husband. He is also such a good father that he never will go out anywhere, except, of course, to his work, without the children, aged eight and four, and that spoils the outing for me, for you know what a care small children are when they are away from home.

My father, who is very careful, will stay with the children gladly whenever we ask him, but that does not content my husband who says continually: "I don't like to leave the children. Something might happen to them while we are away." He shows that he isn't enjoying himself, which, of course, kills my pleasure and makes me feel that I am being a neglectful mother.

Now I love my children, but I am with them constantly and they get on my nerves and make me cross. I know I would be a better mother if I didn't have to have them always hanging on to my skirts. Of course, I could go out by myself or with girl friends, but I want to go out with my husband and have a carefree time for a few hours.

I have told my husband how I feel and that I need an occasional evening away from them, but he only says that he wishes he could be with them all day and night, as I am. What is your advice?

LYNNE.

HUSBAND NEEDS CURE

Answer: A sure cure would be for you to go off on a visit and leave the children with him for a few days and nights. Let him have an unbroken dose of their society as you have; let him have to do all the million things that you have to do for them; let him have to pick up after them as you have to do; let him have to respond to the incessant calls for p-a-p-a as you do to the calls for m-a-m-a and he would be cured of his theory that the taking care of small children is an exciting occupation of which one can never tire and that baby talk is all the conversation that an intelligent adult craves. However, when you returned, you probably would find your husband in the hospital suffering from a nervous breakdown. Only mothers have the stamina to stand the society of kiddies.

It is a pity that fathers can't pinchhit for their wives now and then in taking care of the chil-men, for it would certainly give them a new idea of what the mother job is and make them do something about relieving the monotony of it. For, no matter how much a mother loves her children, they are a nerve-ending care and anxiety to her. She has to watch them every minute to keep them from getting into some sort of mischief or doing some untoward thing that menaces their lives. They forever are fighting, quarrelling, crying, screaming, being Indians and commandos and doing things that leave her a wreck by the end of the day.

their wives go through with the children, they would not suggest their taking a double dose of the medicine by lugging the children along with them when they step out for an evening. They would get some competent person to stay with the youngsters while the poor distraught mothers got a chance to relax and get a fresh grip on their nerves.

Adviser On India, Sir Robert Holland, Back From New York

SIR ROBERT HOLLAND

Following a six-month stay in New York, where he was in charge of the India section of the British Information Service, Sir Robert Holland, orientalist and retired India civil servant, has returned to his home at 1131 Beach Drive.

He now plans on a month's holiday in the Kootenays and will leave for there Tuesday, he said today.

Commenting on the Simla conference, now adjourned to July 14, where Indian leaders met with Viceroy Lord Wavell on the interim plan for India's independence, Sir Robert said he believed the conference to be at a very critical stage.

The crisis was brought about by the clause in the Wavell plan fixing equal representation for Moslems and Hindus in the new executive council, Sir Robert believes.

The Moslem League claimed the right to nominate all Moslems, the Congress party, in turn, believing it should be empowered to elect both the Hindu and Moslem members, he said. The Moslem League would regard Moslems elected by the Congress party as renegades, Sir Robert said.

Principal conference delegates at Simla are ex-President Nehru of the Congress party, current President Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, both just out of jail after three years' imprisonment, Mohandas K. Gandhi, who ended his prison term 13 months ago, and Mohamed Ali Jinnah, Moslem League president. Congress President Azad is a Moslem.

D.S.O. Citation For Maj. Horsey

Citation covering the recent award of the Distinguished Service Order to Maj. Rowland McC. Horsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Horsey, 1025 Joan Crescent, was announced by Defence Headquarters today.

In early December last year, Maj. Horsey and his company were in two engagements with the enemy on the Italian front in which the major, by his personal bravery and leadership of men under his command, successfully completed the operations.

The citation reads in part: "Due to this officer's inspiring example and skilful leadership the company was successful in these two engagements. As a result, on one occasion, a bridgehead was secured with a minimum of delay and loss, and on the other the left flank of another bridgehead was secured and held in the face of a determined enemy, thus enabling a further attack to be made from this position by another brigade. This officer's actions are worthy of the highest praise."

Maj. Horsey commanded a company of the Carleton and York Regiment when the unit helped to storm the Hitler line in Italy. On the Adriatic front he was taken prisoner which digging in on a bluff position, but remained captive less than three minutes when his men counterattacked and released him.

Clay Court Tennis Record Established

CHICAGO (AP)—A clay court tournament scoring record of 34 games in a single set was established Friday when defending champion Francisco (Pancho) Segura of Ecuador literally staged a marathon, to stagger into the final round of the national clay courts tennis tournament.

Segura won by default in his semifinal match with Elwood Cooke of Los Angeles after a 1½-hour opening set that went to the rugged South American by an amazing score of 18 games to 16.

Cooke, veteran of army service, had to leave the court in the second set because of severe leg cramps. Segura was ahead at the time, 4-3.

Members of the Loyal Orange Association, the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association and of the Pride of Victoria, Juvenile Orange Association, paraded from the Orange Hall to Central Baptist Church Sunday morning for their annual service in honor of the Battle of the Boyne on the "Glorious 12th."

Led by the Vancouver Girls' Pipe Band and watched by an interested crowd, the parade left the Orange Hall at 10:30 and followed the route down Courtney to Douglas, up Douglas to Pandora and east on Pandora to the church, and returned by the same way.

Service was taken by the Rev. J. B. Rowell, pastor of the church. After their return from the service the Orange members assembled at the Orange Hall and took up a collection for the Loyal Protestant Orphanage, New Westminster, which is partly supported by the Orange Association.

On Thursday the lodges will open at the Orange Hall at 7 in the morning and remain open all day. In the evening all Orangemen and women will assemble at the hall for a get-together meeting at 8 and a dance and social meeting beginning at 9.

Veteran Flier Gets Pro Football Offer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Johnny Lake, 25-year-old Winnipeg football star, said today he has been offered a "lucrative" professional contract with Cleveland Rams of the United States National League.

Lake, who stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 215 pounds, recently returned from overseas duty with the R.C.A.F. and may be discharged soon.

He said he may be unable to accept the contract this year but will take full advantage of it at the first opportunity.

Les Lear, former Winnipegger, already is a member of the Rams.

Until the middle of the 1880s, type was set by hand as in the days of Gutenberg and Caxton.

WRESTLING made a successful comeback in Vancouver last week with close to 2,000 turning out for promoter Jim Downing's first promotion. Featuring Jim London, one of the all-time greats of the sport, the show produced lots of action and mainland scribes predict an even bigger crowd for future shows. Downing tells me he has not given up the idea of promoting wrestling here but so far has experienced no success in his efforts to secure a downtown location for his rascals to work in. He intended to put on the shows in the lacrosse building at the Willows but gave up the idea through too heavy financial requirements necessary to put the place in shape and pull it down again for every event. At the present time Downing is attempting to secure a well-known local theatre as the centre for his wrestling promotions.

IT HAS always been an unwritten law of the National Hockey League that one-eyed players are taboo. Apparently it's official now, for the rule is said to have been written into the books at the recent league session in Montreal. Probably the first case under the new legislation is that of Tommy Burlington, forward for Cleveland Barons of the American League whose contract was acquired by Chicago Black Hawks last season. Burlington, recently sent back to the Barons, lost an eye, in an accident at six years of age.

A NEW ANGLE on the anticipated postwar sports boom is volunteered by Calgary sports scribe Tom Moore. Talks with military officials have convinced him that army training will make many new athletes. Moore says it was the army's experience at first that men were definitely hampered in playing personal contact sports because they had little confidence in themselves. The army sought to overcome this by a training syllabus in which 300 of 677 training periods were devoted to physical activity—organized sports, bayonet training, route marching, drill, night exercises and battle routine—all with proper coaching.

It paid off. Last year the army boxing championships drew 15,000 participants. "With that record behind it," says Moore, "the army definitely can take credit for whatever boom in sports comes up in North America during the next few years."

QUESTIONNAIRES showed fastball is the army's favorite sport in off-duty hours. Fifty-five per cent of a group labeled English Canadians voted for fastball compared with 44 per cent of the French Canadians, who showed greater interest in tennis, ping-pong, English rugby, hockey, ball, volleyball, skiing and cross-country racing. Other percentages for both groups included: Swimming 52, bowling 50, skating 47, rifle shooting 40, hockey 35, baseball 29, skiing 23, horseshoes 23, volleyball 22, basketball 21, boxing 20, tennis 18, table tennis 15, soccer 12, track and field 10, wrestling 10, handball 9, weight lifting 8, curling 8, fencing 6, English rugby 5, lacrosse 5. Canadian football wasn't included in the poll.

Phil Marchildon May Not Pitch This Year

CHICAGO (AP)—Though the Philadelphia Athletics are cellar-anchored—as usual—manager Connie Mack will bid his time before using pitcher Phil Marchildon, a 17-game winner in 1942, who will be discharged from the R.C.A.F. July 22.

Mack's face beamed when Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., visited the A's headquarters here—two months out of a German prison camp. "Maybe he won't be able to pitch before the season closes," Mack said Saturday, "but we're rather pleased he'll be with us soon, so he can get in shape for next year."

Marchildon reported he did not do any pitching since leaving the A's in 1942, but that his throwing arm felt good.

Bellingham Wins

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (CP)—Joe Faria, former San Diego Padre tesser, notched his seventh senior league triumph of the season Sunday whitewashing Vancouver Norvans 6 to 0. Faria allowed but four scattered hits and only one Norvan reached second base. Gene Holt, Norvans' leftie, held the Bells scoreless until the sixth when a

Jokers Win Over Navy to Head Boxla League

Jokers today rest on top of the pack in the boxla circuit—as a result of their 18 to 16 victory over the Navy crew Saturday night at the Willows. Coach Roy Woolsey's club has a season record of four wins against two defeats. Owl Drug are second with three and three and the Navy third with two and four. In the junior clash Saturday, Murdies triumphed over the Jokers 14 to 3.

Making good use of their speed the Jokers turned in a smart exhibition to whip the heavier Navy outfit. Alec Walker paced the Jokers with five goals while Taylor contributed four. Ernie Ball was much in the picture with five assists to go along with his one counter.

After being held to a 4 to 4 tie in the opening quarter the Jokers held the upper hand in the second and third periods to build up their two-goal margin. In the final quarter the Navy tried desperately to get back on even terms but found a tough stumbling block in Jim Hetherington, Jokers' goalie.

Arnold Ferguson was top sniper for the Jokers with four goals and a like number of assists. Earl McDonald also had four counters.

Navy club, noted for its heavy checking, once again suffered from penalties. Teams and scores follow: Jokers—Hetherington, King 2, Ovcharick, Ball 1, Brown, Sage 3, Douglas 1, Walker 5, Taylor 4, Leeming, Uttke 2.

Navy—Smith, Simpson 2, McCaine, Fraser, Wallace 1, Druce, Percival, Ferguson 4, McDonald 4, Lee 3, Alekshich 2, Smith, McKim, Sangster.

Swim Title Meet On Coast Canceled

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian amateur swimming championships, scheduled for Vancouver, have been canceled for this year. The announcement marked first time in 30 years the events had not been staged by the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association.

War-time transportation difficulties were given as the reason for cancellation of the events. Walk, error and three hits were good for four runs.

Five C's Score Cup Cricket Win

By a score of 168 to 102 Five C's triumphed over Albions Saturday in the semifinals of the Boston Cup knockout cricket series.

Stars for the churchman were George Payne and Alan Griffin who put on totals of 72 not out and 62, respectively. Payne hit 11 fours while Griffin had three sixes and five fours.

For the Albions Tudor was high bat with 45 not out followed by Hendra with 13.

Jack Payne had the best bowling analysis for the C's with five wickets for 26 runs. Les Gibbons of the Albion captured eight for 38, taking five in his last two overs without a run being scored. In a friendly match Oak Bay Club defeated Yarrowas, putting on 117 for two wickets while the shipbuilders were all out for 37.

W. H. Young Wins Hole-in-One Prize

For the fourth straight year W. Young, operator of the Cedar Hill Golf Club, Saturday night won the grand championship of the Gyro Club's hole-in-one competition. Young dropped his tee shot two and one-quarter inches from the cup.

Second prize in the finals went to J. Carlow, who placed his shot within eight inches of the cup. Other finalists and their shots were: A. McLeary, 12 inches and Wally Bowden, 15 inches, 18 inches.

Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve led the women players with a shot 38 1/2 inches from the cup. Al Dowell won Saturday's daily first prize when he came within one inch of the cup. Second prize

V.M.D.-Flyers Victors

Saturday's two City League ball games saw the V.M.D. defeat the Army 7 to 2 to move three and a half games in front of the pack and the R.C.A.F. blast the Navy 12 to 2 to move within half a game of the second-place sailors.

It marked the second successive win for the lads from Pat Bay. With Tommy Musgrave continuing to hold his mastery of the other clubs in the circuit the V.M.D. had little trouble after jumping into 2 to 0 lead in the second inning when Army First Sacker Granich came up with a double error on one play with two out. Another couple of boots gave the shipbuilders another run in the third while in the fourth the V.M.D. made victory practically certain with three earned runs featured by Noel Morgan's long triple to deep right.

Army could do not better than single runs in the third and seventh as Musgrave scattered nine hits and struck out 10. Rosedale allowed a like number of hits but got little support in the pinches. He fanned three.

Six-run rally in the third inning featured the R.C.A.F. win over the Navy. Usually steady Gordon Carpenter opened on the mound for the Navy but ran into a streak of wildness, giving up six walks, six hits and nine runs in three innings when he was replaced by Don Johnson. Southpaw Doug Sutton went the distance for the Flyers, and although he was charged with only six hits, had to hurl himself out of some tough spots as the result of 10 passes.

Flyers showed a lot more went to Ronnie McLeod with a shot 3 1/2 inches from the hole. Saturday's play marked the closing of a successful carnival and the actual amount of money raised for the Solarium will be announced later in the week.

Coast League Ball
Leaders Capture Pair
It looks as if the Coast League baseball race will have to be decided in future games between the two leading teams—no other club seems able to chew anything off the fattening percentages of the Portland Beavers and Seattle Rainiers.

Both teams pounded out double header wins yesterday. The circuit leading Beavers blanked Oakland 6 to 0 and 7 to 0 for a 5 and 3 series edge while the Rainiers trimmed Los Angeles 4 to 1, and 4 to 0 for a seven out of eight games margin.

Seattle's heavy edge over the Angels pared Portland's league lead to three and one-half games. Tail-end Hollywood also won both of its Sunday games, beating San Diego 6 to 3 and 10 to 5 while San Francisco's slipping Seals split with Sacramento, 7 to 0 and 1 to 8. Both Hollywood and Sacramento finished the week with 6 and 2 series margins.

LISKA WINS AGAIN
Portland put its first game in the cooler with a four run outburst in the first inning with a strength at the plate with hits coming when they counted most. At that the teams had a field day in runners left on bases with 16 Navy men stranded and 12 Flyers.

FIELDING GEMS
Fielding highlights of the two games were provided by centre fielder Richardson of the Flyers on his sliding catch of Bruce's drive into short centre and shortstop Harry Holmes of the Army when he leaped into the air to pull down a line drive off the bat of Charlie Strouglar.

Tonight's league game at Athletic Park at 6.30 will bring together the V.M.D. and Eagles. Short scores follow:

	R.	H.	E.

R.C.A.F.	12	14	2

Chicago Cubs Grab First in National

First in hitting, first in field and first in the National League is the sure-fire success parlay Charley Grimm has worked with his Chicago Cubs since leaving Wrigley Field.

The Bruins took over the batting lead shortly after they hit the road east, took sole possession of the fielding honors and then pushed into the front row in the baseball standings yesterday by a double win over the Phillies while Brooklyn was falling twice.

Ever since the Cubs hit the 24-run jackpot in Boston about a week ago they have been hard to get along with. They took four straight from the groggy Braves and kicked the futile Phils around for five more. Added to an earlier victory against the New York Giants, it gave them 10 straight decisions. They have capped 13 of 16 on the Atlantic seaboard.

Grimm had to use three pitchers yesterday to trim the Phils in the first game, 12 to 6. In the second the Cubs won 9 to 2.

St. Louis was rough on a Brooklyn turnout of 32,000 who boosted the Ebbets Field paid attendance to 715,465, almost assuring a season total of 1,000,000. Charley Barrett and Ken Burkhardt took turns plaguing the Dodgers by identical 6 to 4 scores.

Bill Voiselle pitched his first complete winning game since May 20 in notching his 10th decision by the shutout route, 5 to 0, over Cincinnati after Buckly Walters pulled up to the .500 mark with a 7 and 7 win record by handuffing New York with five safeties, 5 to 2.

HOLMES HITS SAFELY
Tommy Holmes ran his consecutive game hitting streak to 37 by hitting safely both games as his Boston Braves bowed to Pittsburgh 10 to 8 and as they plastered the Buccos 13 to 1 in the nightcap.

Largest crowd of the day and banner turnout of the Detroit season, 33,888 paid, saw the Tigers divide a pair with New York Yankees. After Hank Borowy had bested Dizzy Trout in the opener, 8 to 6, despite Hank Greenberg's third homer, Al Benton turned back the Yanks 3 to 2, his first complete game since he broke his leg May 24.

Dave Ferriss upped his victory total to 14 by blanking Cleveland, 6 to 0, scattering seven hits, but the Tribe evened the count on Boston in the second 4 to 2. Chicago White Sox squeaked past Philadelphia twice by one run margins, 5 to 4 and 3 to 2.

St. Louis cooled off Washington for the second straight day, 5 to 1. Their scheduled second tilt was rained out.

2 Shipyard Firms Charged By Unions

Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., and Falconer Marine Industries Ltd., were each charged in city police court today with refusing to grant an elector two additional hours for voting as provided in the Dominion Elections Act.

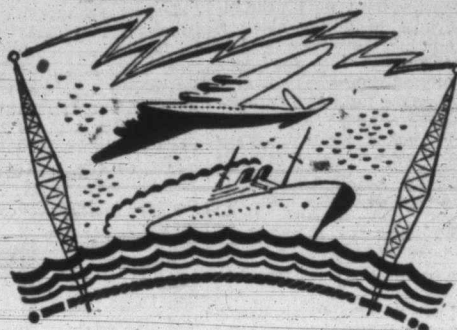

The charges were laid by union members following protests of shipyard employees' organizations over companies' proposals for men to quit work at 4 on the afternoon of June 11 instead of 4.30 to vote before 6.

P. J. Sinnott, appearing for John L. Clay, who is representing V.M.D., asked a remand to July 17 to fix a day, and a similar remand was asked by H. G. S. Helsterman in respect to Falconer Marine Industries. Magistrate H. C. Hall granted both requests.

Bryce R. Cozens, veteran of two wars, recently elected secretary of the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, will assume office July 16 it was learned today. Associated with the Britannia Branch for many years, Mr. Cozens was commissioned in the last war and was discharged after three years' service in this war as a flight lieutenant in 1943. ## Morocco Faces Famine As Worst Drought In History Destroys Crops Extreme poverty is a noticeable characteristic of life in Morocco. This market place and its people are typical of the shabbiness of this region. Even the bare necessities of food and clothing are unobtainable, Grayson reports.

(Harry Grayson NEA staff correspondent, is en route to the China-Burma-India theatre of operations. His flight will cover almost the entire world. Here is his first-hand report from Casablanca, famous in annals of World War Two.)

By HARRY GRAYSON

CASABLANCA — Morocco is having its most frightful time since the French took possession in 1907.

This region is experiencing the worst drought in its history. Protracted dry spells are not uncommon in North Africa, but this year's, piled on that of 1944, is causing grave destitution, if not famine.

It has not rained since January, and then the downfall was not enough to do any good. There is an acute shortage of water, and with it a lack of power. The principal rivers are at their lowest in the memories of the oldest Arabs, the flow of one of the principal streams being reduced to 360 cubic feet per second. Water is pumped into Casablanca, the largest city in West Africa, and pumping facilities and boilers are worn out.

France is in no position to do anything for its protectorate. The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration is not operating here and Morocco has low priorities in the way of lend-lease. Water is carefully rationed throughout the protectorate. In Casablanca's best hotels, for example, it is turned on only in the morning and evening. Arabs in the burnt sections of the country are digging wells deeper in desperate attempts to find new sources of water.

SELL CATTLE

Unable to raise or obtain grass, hay or other fodder, the natives have been forced to sell the bulk of their cattle, with the result that meat—steaks as tough as they are—are plentiful. You see them stacked in the open-air markets and in the Old Medina, which was the original village of Casablanca before the French came. Any meat market is a re-employment centre for all the flies in Morocco.

For those who plowed deepest, last year's crop was 50 per cent normal. It is down to 15 per cent this year, not enough for seed. With most of the cattle disposed of, there will be little or nothing in the way of dairy products in 1946, and the French authorities dread to think about what will happen.

The bread ration has been cut from 350 to 275 grams a day. Theoretically, the Arabs can obtain bread, but actually they can't. A black market in everything is running rampant.

With all near-famines come health problems, and typhus is spreading.

In Casablanca now, U.S. Army Air Forces' doctors advise you not to brush your teeth with the water drawn from faucets. Drinking water is rationed to you in old gin bottles.

Arabs are tillers of the soil and in the better years raised enough grain to export some. They raised cattle, sheep and goats. All they ask is enough to eat and cloth—chiefly cotton, with which to clothe themselves. The men wear baggy pants, and the Fatimas are clad in long white hails and veils that cover all but their eyes. But even if sufficient goods came to Morocco, the country is without automotive transportation with which to take it to the back country. What trucks there were are worn out, and there is no gas.

NOTHING TO BUY

The result is that what little goods are imported remain in coastal towns. This precipitated an unprecedented rush to Casablanca and other seaports. They swarmed on these towns like locusts—riding pathetic little burros, trailing camels, in groups and alone in barefooted editions of Shanks' mare.

Theft and sluggery developed in Casablanca and other overcrowded cities. The situation grew so bad that the French authorities had to post armed sentries to stop the influx. There is plenty of money, but suit of clothes, and you bring your own cloth—if you are fortunate enough to have it.

EDUCATION IS POOR

There are 7,000,000 people in Morocco—200,000 Europeans and 350,000 Jews. That leaves nearly 6,500,000 Arabs.

The Arabs have no more rights than a three-time loser. The French run the works—financially, economically and politically. There is only one Arabic newspaper in Morocco and it is rigidly controlled by the French in Rabat, as is the Sultan.

Talk about taxation without representation. The natives are taxed for schools, but their youngsters are denied admission to them. There are no educated groups. Moroccans are forbidden to go abroad for an education. What comparatively few youngsters get, an education attend their own Moslem schools, and those seeking higher learning matriculate at the university in Fez, the religious capital of the country, but the vast mass of Moroccans are illiterate. You are generous when you say that 10 per cent of the native men can read and write Arabic and that goes for 1 per cent of the women.

Perhaps that is why there have been no serious political disturbances in Morocco to date, such as there have been in Syria. The Nationalist movement has been kept suppressed and underground. Naturally, the Nationalists desire to throw off the yoke inflicted upon them by the French or any other nation.

When the Allies landed, Nov. 7, they expected to be "liberated," were disappointed when they weren't, but are still hopeful. They hope that some day the United Nations will get around to that. Meanwhile, the great majority of the Arabs want only something to eat and put on their backs.

This is a land of contrasts. The residents either have plenty or nothing at all. For instance, the Sultan of Morocco and his 50 wives have four or five palaces and estates that knock your eye out. The vast bulk of his people are in rags, but when they see him, they chant: "How great is the Sultan." How great is the Sultan. Pashas have as many as 11 palaces, limousines and private golf courses. This is an intensely religious country and the Sultan, Sidi Mohammed, a man in his early 30's, is its religious leader.

In ancient Greece, it was believed that it grew warmer and warmer as you went south, and that if you went far enough you would die from the heat.

Prince Robert House Has Busy Six Months

At the monthly meeting of the management committee of Prince Robert House considerable activity was reflected in the report presented by Lt.-Col. Thomas Moore, manager.

For the six-month period just ended 51,520 meals were served, and during the same period 19,995 beds were provided for service personnel.

The Navy League of Canada is indeed proud of being in a position to place such facilities at the convenience of the services, and feels that all personnel attending are to be highly complimented on their exemplary behavior during a very busy period which taxes the staff to the utmost, Col. Moore said.

The first woman pilot to fly the English Channel was Harriet Quimby, who made the trip in 1912.

First Interservice
Sports Dance Held

Four hundred service personnel and civilians attended the Lower Island Interservice Sports' dance at the Armories Saturday night. First get-together of all three services in a social evening, the dance was the initial attempt of the association to further relationships between the three branches of the Canadian forces. The orchestra was supplied by the P. A. Vols. and refreshments were served by members of the business women's sorority. Purpose of the dance was to raise funds to operate interservice sports in the area.

The hall was decorated with a naval motif in honor of Lt. Cmdr. A. Park, R.C.N.V.R., president of the association, who was present.

The City Council has been advised that the 42nd annual convention of the Union of B.C. municipalities will be held at Qualicum Beach, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 6 and 7. The resolutions committee will meet Sept. 5. Because of the government request that travel be curtailed all municipalities are asked to limit the number of their delegates to the convention.

SELKIRK FUEL - E 3914Radio No Threat
To Newspapers...
C.D.N.A. President

Radio will always be supplementary to newspapers in the opinion of R. M. Cantlon, Canadian Daily Newspaper Association president, who arrived in Victoria today on a Dominion-wide trip. General manager of the Saskatoon-Star Phoenix, Mr. Cantlon is making the tour to call on members of the association.

"Development of radio with television," he said, "will offer increasing competition to newspapers, undoubtedly, but will never be a real threat. Increasing circulation of newspapers shows this. After all radio only gives spot news."

Mr. Cantlon said readers are now looking for more background material in stories. He noted the San Francisco Conference as an example where a large number of special writers were needed to interpret the news.

"Europe," he said, "is bound to be a special news centre for many years. While the continent is getting back on its feet larger numbers of writers will be employed over there by Canadian papers than in the years before the war."

More pictures, more colored pages and a continuance of the shorter news stories made imperative by newsprint rationing during the war years were forecast by Mr. Cantlon. Shortage of newsprint, he said, had taught staffs to edit stories into a few paragraphs, and had made for better reporting, despite inexperienced staffs.

He had high praise for Col. Dick Malone who was European chief public relations officer for Canada during the war. He said Col. Malone is now in the Pacific theatre making ready for Canadian correspondents who will move there with Dominion troops.

Mr. Cantlon called barring of reporters from the courtroom here by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson in the Jones vs. Royal Trust case "a direct threat to the freedom of the press."

"He simply told readers of B.C. papers they weren't to have the news," said Mr. Cantlon. "I regard it as a serious incident. We are very much concerned with freedom of the press just now."

"When Mr. Justice Manson excluded the papers and not the public it was not really a closed courtroom."

Bus, Stolen Saturday
Police and company officials are still puzzled by the disappearance of a Blue Line Transit Co. bus from the parking lot of a company garage in Nanaimo early Saturday morning.

The missing vehicle contained around 40 gallons of gasoline, which would take it some 400 or 500 miles if the thieves had anywhere they could go with it, company officials said.

E 8842Warns Industry to Guard Against Accident Toll

"There is no question but that the accident toll will mount unless measures are taken to counteract it," said W. J. Bennett, Director of Ambulances, Commandery Commissioner, St. John Ambulance Brigade in Canada, who addressed representatives of Victoria industrialists at noon today at the Empress.

Men in the fighting forces have been trained to take risks. When these men are again absorbed in industry and other occupations, effects of that training will still be felt. For this reason, increased public interest and extended first-aid courses are needed now, he said.

Mr. Bennett pointed out that industry can train many first-aiders for the cost of even one minor accident. Though the public has at all times shown interest in brigade activities, attitude to date has been "let George do it." As an instance of this, Mr. Bennett said during 1941 and 1942, when some thought of a war hazard in this country existed, many first-aiders took voluntary courses. This dropped considerably as war risk possibilities abated.

Grimmett Inquiry
Of Mutual Benefit
Societies Begins

Sittings of the J. A. Grimmett Commission inquiring into accident and sickness benefit societies opened in the Courthouse today.

Gray Russell, secretary of the Victoria Firemen Mutual Benefit Society, examined by D. J. McAlpine, first-witness counsel, said that his society offered pecuniary benefit only in the event of the death of a member, according to the society's by-laws, so he was excused.

George Goodenough, secretary of the Victoria Aerie No. 12, F.O.E., first-witness-sworn, said that benefits of his association were restricted to members of the society. Commissioner Grimmett said that the words of appointment were confusing, but agreed with Mr. McAlpine that the governing part was the general appointment, which included such associations.

No representative was present for Victory Mutual Benefit Association, 323 Pemberton Building, which was asked to appear along with almost 30 other societies.

Appointed Nov. 4, 1944, the commission held sittings in Vancouver before coming to Victoria. Operations of the Eagles' Society, representing 1,980 members, were outlined by Mr. Goodenough. A sinking fund was created by 50 per cent of the dues, which would take it some 400 or 500 miles if the thieves had anywhere they could go with it, company officials said.

Enough said that that was why he had had no complaints in his eight years as secretary. A total of 17 deaths in 1944 accounted for a small deficit covered by the previous year's balance, he said.

Perjury Charge
Dismissed By Court

A charge of perjury, during an examination for discovery at county court earlier this year, against Lloyd C. Ritter, Port Alberni, was dismissed by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today. Ritter was represented by P. J. Sinnott.

Ritter was alleged to have testified he had carried Bernard Kolnes, skipper of the fishing boat Sleipner, in his taxi on Dec. 2, 1944, when Skipper Kolnes had actually been in Vancouver. Magistrate Hall said he believed it quite possible for Ritter to have mistaken someone else for Kolnes. In addition, he said, he did not see how the introduction of Kolnes into Ritter's evidence could have any bearing on the proceedings of the examination for discovery. Perjury was defined as the act of making statements with the intent of influencing the proceedings of the court, the magistrate said.

A second charge of perjury in police court, laid against Ritter, embodying the same statements allegedly made by Ritter in respect to the skipper, were remanded to July 24 at the request of C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, who said Joseph McKenna, counsel for the informant against Ritter, would be unable to attend earlier.

Japanese Hastily
Organize Defence
Of Stolen Empire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Japan is hastily training volunteer fighters from Korea to Singapore in firefighting and rescue drills. Japanese broadcasts reported today, in an effort to hold what's left of its war-won empire.

In Singapore 24,000 Chinese, Malaysians, Eurasians and Arabs are "standing by" for any emergency, the Japanese-controlled Batavia radio said. In addition, thousands of Singapore office workers have "volunteered" for labor service. The first group began work Saturday on a "five-day construction job" to strengthen defences.

A similar volunteer corps has been formed in Korea, said a Tokyo broadcast also intercepted here by the Federal Communications Commission. Gintaro Fujiwara, former Japanese munitions minister and currently "special fighting strength inspector" in occupied Manchuria, inspected "vital industries" at Kijlo, capital of occupied Korea.

ADMITTS UNITY
Preparing the Japanese people for Russian-British-U.S. co-operation in the forthcoming Big Three conference, the influential Nippon Times said today that in spite of "underlying differences" that may exist between the three nations, they "will continue a policy of outward co-operation in the matter of practical politics."

The editorial, broadcast by radio Tokyo and intercepted by the Federal Communications Commission, then lauded Russia. "Although the Anglo-Americans profess to be opposed to communism and to advocate democracy," it said, "their actual actions in Europe are not showing any signs of democracy whatever, for they are exercising arbitrary military control," while "the Soviet Union, on its side, although committed to communism, is promoting the extending of democracy in Europe."

Showdown Nearing
On 250,000 Polish
Troops in Britain

LONDON (CP)—A showdown on control of the 250,000 Polish soldiers and sailors abroad appeared possible today as British authorities started investigating a charge that a Polish captain had been arrested for attempting to transfer allegiance to the new Warsaw government.

The Foreign Office said the inquiry resulted from a report by Polpress, Warsaw government news agency, that Polish military authorities in Britain had arrested Capt. Wladyslaw Kosciak, lecturer at a Polish training centre.

Warsaw government representatives arrived during the week-end under instructions from the newly-recognized regime to take over property previously controlled by Premier Tomasz Arciszewski's London regime.

The incident brought into the open the potentially dangerous question of what is to be done with the Polish forces here and on the continent, and of whether the forces will remain under present command. Many Polish officers have refused to recognize the Warsaw regime.

The British government thus far has sidestepped the issue by saying Polish forces abroad are under British operational control. In an order of the day last week, Gen. Tadeusz (Bor) Komorowski told the troops they still were duty bound to heed proclamations of President Wladyslaw Rackiewicz of the London regime. But the President no longer is recognized by the British and U.S. governments and the troops draw their pay from the British.

The situation has been complicated by a British act of 1940 which gave Allied forces extra-territorial rights to conduct their own courts-martial. The act apparently does not apply to non-recognized governments.

It was learned authoritatively that the British government is planning within 24 hours to take over property of the Polish state in Britain, including the embassy, to transfer the properties to the Warsaw government.

A special treasury committee will be named soon to consider such questions as the ownership and control of other assets such as the Polish merchant marine.

Appointment of B. C. Bracewell as deputy minister of municipal affairs, to succeed the late E. H. Bridgman, was confirmed today by Hon. H. Anscorb, minister of municipal affairs. "The department has followed its policy of promotion within the service, and is glad to have a man of Mr. Bracewell's experience to fill the vacancy," said Mr. Anscorb.

'Bernadette' Outstanding Story

The first American film since the fall of France to have an additional version in French, will be 20th Century-Fox's dramatization of Franz Werfel's "The Song of Bernadette," which opens today at the Capitol Theatre.

In preparation for the time when Europe will again be a market for American films, the picture, based on the best-selling novel about the Maid of Lourdes whose faith and courage stirred all of France, has been made with an additional sound track in French.

Because of the universal appeal of the Werfel story, which has already been translated into eight languages, Italian and German versions may also be undertaken.

Jennifer Jones makes her screen debut in the title role, with William Eythe, Charles Bickford, Vincent Price, Lee J. Cobb and Gladys Cooper also featured. "The Song of Bernadette" was directed by Henry King and produced by William Perleberg from a script by George Seaton.

JENNIFER JONES, who plays the title role in 20th Century-Fox's screen dramatization of Franz Werfel's "The Song of Bernadette," opening today at the Capitol Theatre, reveals her amazing experiences at the Grotto of Massabielle to William Eythe and Eula Morgan. The filmization of the best-loved Werfel best-seller was directed by Henry King and produced by William Perleberg.

Marlene Dietrich Star of 'Kismet'

Marlene Dietrich not only sings in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Kismet," but dances, too!

As queen of Baghdad's dancers in the technicolor spectacle, opening today at the Capitol Theatre, Marlene does a nautch dance which she has started rehearsing with Jack Cole, national authority on East Indian routines and dance director of the picture. She also sings an Oriental love song to Ronald Colman, who portrays the adventurous beggar-magician of the romantic tale set in Bagdad of 1,000 years ago.

William Dieterle directed and Everett Riskin produced "Kismet," which features Hugh Herbert, James Craig, Joy Ann Page and Edward Arnold.

'Hangover Square' Mystery Chiller

Dirge deeds are once more cloaked in the bear rug that was once so prominent in the famous and sensuous thrillers of the enticing Theda Bara. It has been pulled out of its mothballs and put back to work in the 20th Century-Fox mystery-chiller, "Hangover Square," which stars Laird Cregar, Linda Darnell and George Sanders, and which opens tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre.

This time it was placed on the

Galaxy of Stars At Oak Bay, Plaza

A so-called postwar problem, which is with us right now, is treated with rare understanding in "I'll Be Seeing You," the new film drama which opened at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres today. It is the problem that deals with the rehabilitation of the returned veteran, in particular the young fellow who is spiritually and emotionally wounded. He has a hard fight back to the normal, well-adjusted sphere he occupied before pushing into the maelstrom of modern war.

In "I'll Be Seeing You" Joseph Cotten plays the role of such a warrior—a hero of extensive action in the Pacific, who is returned to a U.S. army hospital suffering a severe psychoneurosis. Rare understanding is required to help such an individual attain emotional adjustment. Ginger Rogers, co-starring with Cotten, plays the role of a charming young girl who is endowed with the understanding that helps bring the boy back.

York Presenting 'Song of Road'

A host of lovely songs will be wafted over the air waves, and hummed merrily by music-lovers all over the world the minute Charles R. Rogers' joyous musical extravaganza, "Song of the Open Road," opens at the York Theatre today.

With Sammy Kaye and his marvelous swing and sway orchestra taking over the lovely romantic melodies, and his famous girl chorus giving them everything they've got, how can they fail to get listeners in the mood? And with Chuck Faulkner and his famous Hollywood Canteen Kids, known as the most popular kid band in the U.S., giving out with plenty of pep with those tunes that "just gotta be jived," how can they lose?

Original songs in the film were composed by Walter Kent, with lyrics by Kim Gannon. They are "Rollin' Down the Road," "Too Much in Love," "Fun in the Sun" and "Here It Is Monday."

Air Force Epic At Atlas Theatre

With the opening today at the Atlas Theatre of Moss Hart's "Winged Victory," the U.S. Army Air Forces' own great Broadway stage hit wings its thrill-blazing way to the screen with all its gallant adventure and romance... song and laughter... multiplied a thousand fold as the magnificent Darryl F. Zanuck production gives it the heavens and earth in which to spread its glory-tipped wings.

"Winged Victory" was born of General Henry H. Arnold's desire to present to the public in graphic form the way in which the Army Air Forces makes its fighting men. Although numerous books and motion picture stories have been written about the topic, General Arnold, whose first love is the great flying force he commands, desired to have the public know the full, authentic and intimate story of the men who fly our planes.

Airmen Preachers, Thought About It In War They State

WINNIPEG, (CP)—College life is a far cry from life in the squadron but "we're getting used to it," say former members of the R.C.A.F. who are using service allowances to pave their way through university.

Typical of these boys is 23-year-old Neill Currie, a former flying officer with the Blueenos squadron overseas. Neill, who was born in Port Arthur, obtained his bachelor of science degree at the University of Manitoba before he enlisted in 1942, but now he's back "to get my master's degree in economics."

"I hope," he says, "that air force life didn't disrupt his study habits to any degree."

"Studying is just as easy—or as hard—as it used to be. My years away from university haven't made me restless and readjusting oneself isn't particularly difficult," he said.

Stefan Bjarnason, a Winnipeg boy who served as a bombardier with the R.A.F. for a year and a half, is taking his return to campus life in his stride.

"Studying? oh, it's no trouble at all—just a piece of cake." Then he smiled ruefully, "But of course exams will tell the tale."

Stefan, who was studying second year pre-medicine before he enlisted, now is taking third year arts. After he gets his degree—

"I guess I'll aim at hanging my shingle as a lawyer."

HAPPY AS CIVILIAN

Although the 22-year-old former flying officer had a colorful career and wears a gold caterpillar on his lapel, presented after he walked back from behind enemy lines in France, he is finding his return to civilian life "very nice indeed."

A native of the Yorkton, Sask., district, 26-year-old Lloyd Collins, second year arts, is "thinking of going in for the ministry."

During 15 months overseas as a navigator he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal.

"Readjustment isn't a problem," he said. "Once in a while I feel like packing things up and throwing them overboard but I would in any case—that's only natural."

Nineteen-year-old John Day was completing his Grade 11 at high school when he enlisted. Since his release he has been attending United College in Winnipeg and plans to study theology. "I thought about it in the air force," he said.

He believes that boys who ordinarily would have left school after high school studies, now will attend university. "The majority of them want more education," he said.

Russia, Poland Sign Favored Nation Pact

LONDON (CP)—The Moscow radio said today Russia and Poland had signed a trade treaty giving each other a "most favored nation" status.

The agreement was described as providing for an exchange of goods totaling $120,000,000 during the second half of this year, compared with a trade turnover of only $23,000,000 for a whole year under the Polish-Soviet trade treaty of 1939.

WE FLEW Without GUNS

A NEW LIFE
XXIV

IT HAD BEEN six months since I wrote that letter to Gerry Ewing, the beautiful blonde who danced in the floor show at Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe. I had yet to receive an answer, so the night after we arrived in New York, Gingiss and I decided to look up Gerry Ewing and demand an explanation.

"But Capt. Genovese, you are so short!" Gerry said, the very first thing when we met her at the St. Moritz. "I thought you said in your letter that you were—what was it. Six feet?"

"I don't remember," I said, embarrassed, because I had been a trifle liberal in estimating my height. "But flying takes a lot out of a man. Makes you lose a lot of weight sometimes—probably affects your height, too."

The picture of Gerry in the magazine was very good, but it didn't do her justice. In the flesh she was twice as beautiful, with silky blonde hair and wide blue eyes and soft red lips and a smile that crinkled around the eyes. Just hearing the soft melody of her laugh made me all wobbly inside. After she had dressed and come from her room and slipped her arm through mine, we went out and got a cab and drove over to the Stork Club, and I asked the headwaiter for a table for two.

"Aren't you all together?" he asked. I turned and saw Gingiss standing there looking rather bewildered. "Oh—oh, yeah," I said. "That's right. Make it a table for three."

The flying slump that washed me out of Randolph Field back in 1939, was nothing compared to the complete daze that engulfed me in the three weeks following my first evening with Gerry Ewing. At the end of that time I was still walking around with my head in the clouds, and there was nothing to do but lay my cards on the table.

"I love you, Gerry," I told her one night, and she smiled and said, "That's nice, because I love you, too."

And so we were married.

MUCH as one hates to concede the fact, honeymoons cannot go on forever. Ours ran on blissfully from the end of August until early October, with never once a thought of the turmoil in which the rest of the world found itself, but then reality returned in the form of a telegram from Gingiss, who had gone back home to Chicago a few weeks before.

"Have nice airline job lined up in South America," he wired. "Room for you, too. Good pay and dangerous. What more could you ask?"

"What do you think, dear?" I asked, handing the message to Gerry. "Would you like to live in South America?"

Gerry read it three or four times, and then she said, "I'll tell you what I think: I think there are mountains in South America, and the first thing you know that prostate trouble or whatever it was, will start up again. Another thing I think, as long as you've asked me, is that you've done enough dangerous flying. Your work at Lockheed and at Brewster Aircraft, and your knowledge of planes from all these experiences in England and in China and India, all that ought to qualify you as an engineer, some kind of a job where you could put all that knowledge to good use. Why say, I'll bet..."

On and on Gerry went, building up her bridegroom so vigorously that if he had listened to all she had said and taken it seriously he would have gone out next morning and started the foundations for an aircraft factory of his own. But the bridegroom didn't listen to all of it—he was already becoming a husband.

THE bridegroom's argument with himself was short-lived. Most important to him, as well as to everyone else in the United States, if not in the world, was to get the war over with. And flying in South America would contribute little to that.

He returned to his apartment after an absence of two hours the next afternoon and told his bride to start packing; they were on their way to Evansville, Indiana. "Evansville?" Gerry exclaimed. "What are we going to do—buy a farm?"

"No, Cookie, we aren't going to buy a farm," he said. "I'm going to see about a job with Republic Aviation. They have a big plant just outside Evansville, where they are turning out P-47 Thunderbolts, the hottest fighting planes in the world, and there's a chance that I can get in on the deal."

"As an executive, you mean," Gerry said, all excited. "Well, kind of," I replied. "You see, once in a while a plane comes off the line that isn't just right, and they have to have an expert on hand to figure out just what's wrong. It's a mighty responsible job—I'll be lucky if I can land it."

"Well, just so it's safe, that's all I care," Gerry said, and the bridegroom was too busy packing his suitcase to answer.

He had done his best not to misrepresent the job, but even so Gerry was pretty upset when an Evansville paper carried a nice big story two days after he started to work, captioned:

CAPT. J. GENOVESE JOINS REPUBLIC AS TEST PILOT.

SCIENTISTS SAY HORSE
HAD THREE-TOED FOOT
DURING EOCENE EPOCH

From the outside, the hind leg of a horse looks very different from the leg of a man. An inside view of the bones, however, shows that in some ways the two are alike.

Hip bones, thigh bones and lower legs down to the heel are similar. The big difference is found from the heel down to the toes.

A horse's hoof is the only part of the foot which touches the ground, and we might suppose it to be the entire foot. Yet scientists say that the hoof is only a toe. The rest of the foot in the hind leg stretches upward from 15 to 20 inches, to a joint with bones very much like the heel and ankle bones of a man.

As a horse walks or runs, this joint of a horse's hind leg bends backward. The true knee is farther up the leg.

A man's foot has five toes, and almost all furry animals have four or five toes on each foot. How does it happen that a horse's foot has only one toe, the hoof?

Men of science have studied that question with care. They have found that there are two tiny "splint bones" besides the strong "cannon bone" which leads to the hoof. These splint bones, they say, must be the remains of bones which led to toes of horses long ago.

The study of geology has given hints about the history of the horse's foot. In deep layers of rock, skeletons have been found of animals in the horse family. Some of these, in Eocene rocks, have complete bones for three toes in each foot.

At the American Museum of Natural History in New York City I have seen an excellent exhibit of the skeleton remains of horses through the ages. Scientists say that at the time it had three toes on each foot the horse was a small animal, about the size of a fox.

A further question is, "Did the horse have five toes early in its history?" It is believed that in the Age of Reptiles a little horse-like animal existed with five toes on each foot, but more proof is needed on this point.
